U.S., Soviet Making Moves

Diplomatic Bids On Viet Are Carried To Far East

Peace Drive Is 'Pleasing' To Johnson

Confident Travels Of Envoys Having Impact On World

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is pleased with the results so far of his Viet Nam peace offensive. He is confident the travels of his special peace envoys are having a global impact still largely hidden behind a curtain of diplomatic secrecy.

Although there has been no outward evidence of a favorable response from Hanoi, Johnson remains hopeful of a breakthrough.

On the hopeful side, word has come through diplomatic channels that many countries visited by such traveling American diplomats as W. Averell Harriman and Arthur J. Goldberg are getting in direct touch with Hanoi — to urge steps toward peace.

Diplomatic traffic with the Communist government of North Viet Nam has reached a new peak since the concerted American peace effort began.

Some of this hidden diplomatic intervention has come from countries skeptical in the past about American policy.

If Hanoi remains deaf to such appeals, Johnson believes his efforts, at the very least, will reinforce his claim that if there are obstacles to peace, the blame lies elsewhere.

In a sense, the Johnson peace offensive has been a developing thing, with the President personally ordering each new move, often on short notice.

It was shaped with the passage of time as Johnson made a succession of major decisions in which his politician's sense of timing played a great role.

The peace campaign had its beginning — in secrecy — at a Nov. 11 conference at the LBJ Ranch in Texas. Gathered at the comfortable ranch house on the banks of the Pedernales were the President, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and presidential assistants McGeorge Bundy and Jack Valenti.

For many weeks, the administration had given periodic thought to a possible pause in American bombings of North Viet Nam as a potential means of dramatizing U.S. hopes for peace and, hopefully, encouraging a conciliatory response from Hanoi.

The ranch conference marked the first intensive discussion of this possibility, favored by many foreign leaders and by some people in this country who

4 U.S. Servicemen Wounded

Terrorists Strike Saigon Points With Mine, Bomb

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong terrorists struck twice in Saigon tonight, exploding a powerful Claymore mine at the military airport's main gate and a plastic bomb at a police substation across town. Among casualties were four U.S. servicemen, slightly wounded.

One Vietnamese was killed and three were injured in this first such outbreak of the new year.

It came shortly after U.S. briefing officers reported Allied troops and planes had knocked out hidden Viet Cong installations in three widely separated areas of South Viet Nam over the preceeding 48 hours.

The Claymore mine, which can be aimed to fire hundreds of steel pellets like a shotgun, cut loose at 6:18 p.m. from the seat of a motorized passenger cycle as American servicemen were streaming out of the gate of the airport. But the cycle had been parked between a cargo truck and a large tree and the tree took most of the charge.

A Vietnamese passerby was killed. Of the Americans injured, two were Air Force men. The others were a soldier and a sailor.

The police substation in eastern Saigon was hit an hour later. A plastic charge estimated to weigh 60 pounds, flung in the street by a bicyclist, blew in a wall and collapsed the main building, also surrounded by wire. One policeman, a woman and a child were injured.

A Vietnamese policeman raced shooting after the terrorist and said he may have winged him.

The last previous attacks in Saigon were dozens of grenade assaults on American servicemen, trucks and billets marking the fifth anniversary Dec. 20 of the Viet Cong's political agency, the national liberation front.

The U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, pushing through the steamy swamplands west of Saigon, uncovered a network of Communist bunkers filled with ammunition and supplies as the Viet Cong fell back before the American paratroopers.

The paratroopers blew up the fortifications on the sixth day of the first U.S. invasion in strength of the Mekong Delta, a Communist stronghold.

Other elements of the 173rd Brigade came on what one U.S. spokesman called a Viet Cong "general store" near the marshy Plain of Reeds, a Red stronghold and infiltration route close to the Cambodian frontier.

The paratroopers captured two guards. One of them carried several ounces of gold and 11,000 piasters, possibly part of a guerrilla payroll. The cash was worth only about $150 but was a considerable amount in Vietnamese terms.

As the suspension of U.S. raids on North Viet Nam continued for the 14th day, spokesmen said B52s from Guam in a raid Tuesday night 70 miles northwest of Saigon destroyed two large tunnels, a bunker, 400 yards of camouflaged trench line and a supply area.

Secondary explosions indicated the bombs may have also hit a guerrilla ammunition or fuel dump, he said.

South Korean marines and Vietnamese paratroopers uncovered 32 Viet Cong cave hideouts and seized 147 suspects, many of them women and children, on the fifth day of "Opera-

Harriman's In Tokyo On Peace Drive

Shelepin Scheduled For Conference In North Viet Capital

TOKYO (AP) — The Soviet Union and the United States carried diplomatic maneuvering on Viet Nam to the Far East today as Soviet troubleshooter Alexander Shelepin left for Hanoi and American envoy W. Averell Harriman arrived in Tokyo.

Shelepin took off from Moscow with top experts on military production and rocketry. The Kremlin apparently hopes to outbid Red Chinese influence in the North Vietnamese capital with more economic and military assistance.

Some Western governments were hopeful also that Shelepin would encourage Ho Chi Minh's regime to negotiate for peace in Viet Nam. He is the No. 2 man in the Soviet Communist party under Chairman Leonid F. Brezhnev.

This theory got a boost Tuesday when Albania, Peking's mouthpiece in the Soviet-Chinese dispute, charged Shelepin's real aim was to help the United States make a deal on Viet Nam. Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi also accused the Soviets of giving the United States a free hand in Viet Nam by keeping the peace elsewhere.

The Russians have kept silent on the purpose of the trip, although Tass announced Shelepin's departure with a "flash" on its news service. This designation is used for events of great importance to the Kremlin.

Harriman, who has been playing a key part in President Johnson's so-called Viet Nam peace offensive, flew from Cairo to Bangkok, the eighth leg of a globe-circling tour. The U.S. ambassador-at-large conferred

Cautions Public It 'Must Sweat It Out'

Lindsay Says Strike Talks Advance In 'Good Faith'

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay reported to New Yorkers that subway and bus strike negotiations moved ahead in "good faith" bargaining which recessed early today.

But he cautioned that the public still "must sweat it out" until settlement of the six-day-old strike.

Heavy morning rain complicated already difficult transportation problems for the city's 3.5 million workers.

The city made a new money offer during a marathon night session which broke up at 2 a.m., but the parties would not say what it was. There had been a $187-million gap in negotiating positions for a two-year labor contract covering 34,400 transit workers.

Lindsay also disclosed that he had consulted with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz but would not disclose the substance of their talk.

Lindsay said he would keep in touch by telephone with the progress of talks between the Transit Authority and two striking AFL-CIO organizations: the Transport Workers Union and the Amalgamated Transit Union.

As he emerged from the nighttime session, Lindsay said:

"There has been some movement, nevertheless the gap remains wide between them. New offers have been made."

Lindsay declined to predict if this could lead to settlement of the 6-day-old strike, but he described the new offers as "a very important move."

Rain slowed the incoming traffic today and cars were bumper - to - bumper on many major arteries.

Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes said, "Some people will use the weather conditions as an excuse to stay home, and I hope they will."

Negotiators for the Transit Authority and the striking Transport Workers Union and Amalgamated Transit Union, both AFL-CIO, plan to get back to work the first thing today.

Lindsay, vowing to stick with the negotiators until they come to terms, said he would join them as soon as he cleared up some city business.

In New York's five boroughs, and from Connecticut to New Jersey, people bound for work cut short their sleep to face another long day of fighting the traffic and crowded railroad facilities.

One thing that has been contributing to the prevention of chaos in the strike has been that the morning and evening rush hours have been spread out over a longer period of time.

Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes announced a plan Wednesday for staggered working hours in lower Manhattan. He divided the area into four sections and asked employers to voluntarily begin letting workers off at intervals between 3 and 5 p.m.

The New York Stock Exchange and the American Exchange said they would close trading 90 minutes early.

Lindsay joined the negotiations Wednesday for the first time since the transit workers walked out New Year's Day five hours after he took office.

"The issues are very, very complicated," he said. "I am satisified from my own personal

Indicted On 5 Counts

Baker May Draw 48 Years In Pen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker — the man Lyndon B. Johnson once called "my strong right arm" — has been charged with a tangled, three-year skein of financial wrongdoing carrying grave criminal penalties.

A federal grand jury ended a 15 - month investigation by charging the former secretary to Senate Democrats with fraud, tax evasion, grand larceny, conspiracy and illegal transportation of stolen money.

The crimes set forth in the nine-count indictment, returned Wednesday in U. S. District Court, could mean a maximum prison sentence of 48 years and $47,000 in fines for the soft-spoken, 37-year-old lawyer-tycoon.

Baker was reached by telephone Wednesday night at "Bobby Baker's Carousel," the plush motel he owns at the seaside resort of Ocean City, Md. He calmly referred all questions to his lawyers — who said "no comment."

Baker's arraignment is set for Jan. 20.

According to the grand jury, Baker's alleged criminal activity began in mid-1962 and continued through last Oct. 18 — two years after he had quit his Senate post under fire, become a headline personality, and been the subject of a stormy, name-calling investigation by a Senate committee.

The grand jury did not — as the Senate Rules Committee had recommended — indict Baker for conflict-of-interest violations. But it did charge that he:

—Understated his income by $54,559 for 1961-62 and evaded $23,091 in income taxes for those years;

—Conspired with a Washington coal lobbyist, Wayne L. Bromley, to camouflage large portions of his 1963-64 income as legal fees to Bromley, "secretly and surreptitiously" taking the money himself;

—Fraudulently obtained $33,000 from a Los Angeles savings and loan officer, illegally carried it across state lines and

3 Throw Hats Into Ring For May Primary

Tobin, Webber And Loba Will Contest For Various Posts

Columbiana County and the new 30th state senatorial district gained three new candidates today for the primary elections May 3.

Probate and Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin announced he will file Monday with the County Election Board to seek a third six - year term.

Joseph Loba, a Steubenville attorney and a former prosecutor and state representative in Jefferson County, filed with the board to seek the post of state senator.

Samuel B. Webber of East Liverpool obtained petitions to seek the Republican nomination for county commissioner.

Tobin Set To File For Another Term

Probate and Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool said today he will file petitions Monday with the County Election Board to seek the Democratic nomination for a third six-year term in the May primaries.

An East Liverpool native, he was educated in local schools and Ohio State University, where he obtained his law degree in 1932. During World War II, he served as a lieutenant in the 33rd Division, fighting in the campaigns of New Guinea, Morita and the Philippines. He received the Bronze Star with cluster in the Philippine campaign for rescuing his men while under enemy fire.

Officials Say No Takeover For Crucible

Trading in Crucible Steel Co. stock remained this morning on the New York Exchange as company officials continued to deny reports of a takeover of the firm by another corporation.

Some 25,000 shares were traded in a half - hour this morning, one report said, but the market was active in many areas.

Joel H. Hunter, president, issued a statement Wednesday categorically denying Crucible officials have any knowledge of any takeover or merger.

Hunter had been questioned about a report that U. S. Smelting had made a takeover offer of $41 a share, a report which both Crucible and U. S. Smelting officials denied.

Trading of Crucible stock at New York topped the active list earlier in the week as the reports grew, with Crucible rising as high as 31½, but trading fell when the companies denied the reports.

Trading in the issue was held up at one time on the market and when it reopened Crucible was listed at 29⅞. Turnover in the stock was 245,000 shares.

There were a number of subsequent reports that Inland Steel Co. was involved in a similar takeover of Crucible Wednesday, but again Crucible authorities denied it.

Hunter said there have been no talks concerning such a transaction, and he knows of no talks planned.

Safety Factor Mentioned

Swaney Airport Backed, With Some Reservations

LISBON — The safety factor relative to the proposed Columbiana County airport was discussed during a meeting of the Airport Authority here Wednesday night.

During the 90-minute session, those who spoke favored the Swaney site, near East Liverpool, with some reservations. Proponents of a site at Orchard Hill, near Leetonia, failed to appear on behalf of that area.

Clarence Thornley, a resident of Suburban Heights, said he would like to see the airport in the southern part of the county, but expressed concern that families in the area would be exposed to the danger of planes flying overhead and that property values would drop.

Darwin Stiles, a Glenmoor resident, also expressed concern about the safety factor.

However, Frank Mangano, representing the East Liverpool Jaycees, noted that there are restrictions on the sizes of airports and the number and size of planes that may land there. He also pointed out that there is a boom in housing projects near most airports and that property values should increase rather than decrease.

Richard Darrah, also of the East Liverpool Jaycees, indicated that if there is a safety risk, it would be greater with the Orchard Hill site because the location is near Leetonia schools.

Also voicing opinions in favor of the Swaney site were Charles Lang, an East Liverpool attorney, and Larry Walton of East Liverpool.

Vincent Laneve of East Liverpool, chairman of the County Airport Authority, said no decision on the site will be made until after a visit from Norman Crabtree, chief of the Ohio Division of Aviation. "There are 107,000 people in Columbiana County, and we will endeavor to take into consideration the wants and needs of all of them," Laneve said.

He added that Crabtree, in a recent letter to the chairman, said that the state has no preference as to any of the five sites submitted by the authority.

Laneve noted eight letters from civic leaders in East Liverpool and Wellsville urging the

King Pulling Out Of Race For Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Frank W. King pulled his name out of speculation today as a possible Democratic opponent for Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"I am not going to be a candidate," King told newsmen after meeting with members of a party committee to screen candidates for statewide office.

DiSalle, who lost a re-election bid to Rhodes in 1962, appeared to hold an edge over other gubernatorial possibilities, with speculation being that he stands ready to make a comeback try.

Others under gubernatorial consideration included State Reps. A. G. Lancione of Bellaire and Harry H. McIlwain of Cincinnati, James V. Stanton, Cleveland City Council president, and Party Chairman William L. Coleman, head of the screening committee.

DiSalle was out of town but

Hotel officials estimated that about 50 of 54 persons registered were in the old brick building when the fire broke out about 4:30 a.m.

A number of persons were led to safety down fire escapes and through smoke-filled hallways by building employes. One employe said the blaze started in a first-floor lavatory and swept upward.

At Earliest Possible Time

Scranton To Call Special Session On Reapportion

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said today he will call a special session of the legislature at the earliest possible time to reapportion Pennsylvania's 27 Congressional districts.

"Time is of the essence," the governor told his weekly news conference. He said he has not decided on a definite date, adding:

"But for working out a good sound system it should be done by Feb. 15, the first day for circulating nominating petitions. This means we will have to move fairly quickly."

Congressional reapportionment is necessary because ward changes in the city of Philadelphia have altered the complexion of the five districts there.

The governor said, however, it is advisable to adopt a new statewide redistricting to avoid the possibility of court challenges later. Some of the districts vary from population averages by as much as 25 per cent.

Scranton said he will submit his 1966-67 budget to the legislature at the end of the month. He reiterated that it would not require tax increases.

The governor said he has not decided whether any other subjects would be included in a special session. The 1966 session is limited by law to budget matters and constitutional amendments.

However, he said, any special session would be limited to very few subjects because "this is an election year and members of the legislature are going to be

Officials Say No Takeover For Crucible

Trading in Crucible Steel Co. stock remained this morning on the New York Exchange as company officials continued to deny reports of a takeover of the firm by another corporation.

Some 25,000 shares were traded in a half - hour this morning, one report said, but the market was active in many areas.

Joel H. Hunter, president, issued a statement Wednesday categorically denying Crucible officials have any knowledge of any takeover or merger.

Hunter had been questioned about a report that U. S. Smelting had made a takeover offer of $41 a share, a report which both Crucible and U. S. Smelting officials denied.

Trading of Crucible stock at New York topped the active list earlier in the week as the reports grew, with Crucible rising as high as 31½, but trading fell when the companies denied the reports.

Trading in the issue was held up at one time on the market and when it reopened Crucible was listed at 29⅞. Turnover in the stock was 245,000 shares.

There were a number of subsequent reports that Inland Steel Co. was involved in a similar takeover of Crucible Wednesday, but again Crucible authorities denied it.

Hunter said there have been no talks concerning such a transaction, and he knows of no talks planned.

Safety Factor Mentioned

Swaney Airport Backed, With Some Reservations

LISBON — The safety factor relative to the proposed Columbiana County airport was discussed during a meeting of the Airport Authority here Wednesday night.

During the 90-minute session, those who spoke favored the Swaney site, near East Liverpool, with some reservations. Proponents of a site at Orchard Hill, near Leetonia, failed to appear on behalf of that area.

Clarence Thornley, a resident of Suburban Heights, said he would like to see the airport in the southern part of the county, but expressed concern that families in the area would be exposed to the danger of planes flying overhead and that property values would drop.

Darwin Stiles, a Glenmoor resident, also expressed concern about the safety factor.

However, Frank Mangano, representing the East Liverpool Jaycees, noted that there are restrictions on the sizes of airports and the number and size of planes that may land there. He also pointed out that there is a boom in housing projects near most airports and that property values should increase rather than decrease.

Richard Darrah, also of the East Liverpool Jaycees, indicated that if there is a safety risk, it would be greater with the Orchard Hill site because the location is near Leetonia schools.

Also voicing opinions in favor of the Swaney site were Charles Lang, an East Liverpool attorney, and Larry Walton of East Liverpool.

Vincent Laneve of East Liverpool, chairman of the County Airport Authority, said no decision on the site will be made until after a visit from Norman Crabtree, chief of the Ohio Division of Aviation. "There are 107,000 people in Columbiana County, and we will endeavor to take into consideration the wants and needs of all of them," Laneve said.

He added that Crabtree, in a recent letter to the chairman, said that the state has no preference as to any of the five sites submitted by the authority.

Laneve noted eight letters from civic leaders in East Liverpool and Wellsville urging the

King Pulling Out Of Race For Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Frank W. King pulled his name out of speculation today as a possible Democratic opponent for Gov. James A. Rhodes.

"I am not going to be a candidate," King told newsmen after meeting with members of a party committee to screen candidates for statewide office.

DiSalle, who lost a re-election bid to Rhodes in 1962, appeared to hold an edge over other gubernatorial possibilities, with speculation being that he stands ready to make a comeback try.

Others under gubernatorial consideration included State Reps. A. G. Lancione of Bellaire and Harry H. McIlwain of Cincinnati, James V. Stanton, Cleveland City Council president, and Party Chairman William L. Coleman, head of the screening committee.

DiSalle was out of town but

Nine Perish, 16 Injured In St. Paul Fire

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Fire swept a downtown St. Paul hotel-apartment house early today leaving at least 9 dead and 16 injured and taken to hospitals. Four were in critical condition.

Firemen searched ruins of the four-story Carleton Hotel and apartments for more bodies.

Survivors fled into 5 above zero weather.

Hotel officials estimated that about 50 of 54 persons registered were in the old brick building when the fire broke out about 4:30 a.m.

A number of persons were led to safety down fire escapes and through smoke-filled hallways by building employes. One employe said the blaze started in a first-floor lavatory and swept upward.

Scranton To Call Special Session On Reapportion

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said today he will call a special session of the legislature at the earliest possible time to reapportion Pennsylvania's 27 Congressional districts.

"Time is of the essence," the governor told his weekly news conference. He said he has not decided on a definite date, adding:

"But for working out a good sound system it should be done by Feb. 15, the first day for circulating nominating petitions. This means we will have to move fairly quickly."

Congressional reapportionment is necessary because ward changes in the city of Philadelphia have altered the complexion of the five districts there.

The governor said, however, it is advisable to adopt a new statewide redistricting to avoid the possibility of court challenges later. Some of the districts vary from population averages by as much as 25 per cent.

Scranton said he will submit his 1966-67 budget to the legislature at the end of the month. He reiterated that it would not require tax increases.

The governor said he has not decided whether any other subjects would be included in a special session. The 1966 session is limited by law to budget matters and constitutional amendments.

However, he said, any special session would be limited to very few subjects because "this is an election year and members of the legislature are going to be

Snow Slated Tonight In Temperature Dip

The rain which drenched the district today is scheduled to turn to snow tonight as the temperature takes a sharp drop —with a range of from 15 to 22 forecast.

The weatherman says it will be cloudy, windy and much colder with scattered snow flurries tonight. Friday will be partly cloudy and colder.

Apparent Victory Over Steel

Johnson Unmarked Again In Scuffle With Industry

In an apparent victory for his "let us reason together" approach to national problems, Johnson batted down a $5-a-ton price increase for structural steel. He settled Wednesday for a $2.75 boost.

The White House emphatically denied that any behind-scenes deal preceded the announcement by United States Steel Corp. of the pattern-setting compromise increase.

But everybody knew there had been feelers and soundings-out on both sides. U.S. Steel had officials in Washington testing the administration's attitude. The administration — by White House admission — had people in contact with steel producers.

Unlike President John F. Kennedy in the steel showdown of 1962, Johnson talked tough but never let the controversy reach that point of no return at which a compromise would have been impossible.

Both sides knew — throughout the five tense days after Bethlehem Steel Corp. posted its $5 increase, to be followed by Inland Steel — that Johnson would accept gladly any settlement which did no real violence to the administration's anti-inflation guidelines for wage and price adjustments.

U.S. Steel came up with the formula. It was a price boost only about half as big as Bethlehem's and offset, in part, by a cut in the price of cold-rolled sheet steel which competes with Japanese-made steel on the West Coast.

Quickly, Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers applauded the moves as "generally consistent with the price-wage guideposts." Bethlehem canceled its $5 increase. Inland said it would revise its price "to be competitive."

Administration officials were visibly relieved. So were most segments, at least, of the steel industry. Neither side wanted the dispute to reach the stage of distrust, if not downright enmity, that marred Kennedy's relations with business after his showdown with the steelmakers.

Kennedy forced a complete and humiliating backdown on the industry by mobilizing a massive show of government force — some of it punitive and retaliatory in nature. The industry found itself denounced publicly, facing a grand jury probe which implied criminal prosecution, threatened with the withdrawal of a planned tax liberalization, and in danger of collusive pricing charges. There was also the threat of antimonopoly action to break up U.S. Steel Corp.

Johnson was content to use one weapon — the appropriate one of ordering government purchasing officials to buy steel from producers who hadn't raised the price. The Pentagon said Wednesday night the order to buy steel at the lowest prices till stands.

Kennedy won, hands down. Johnson came off with half a victory, but with his consensus of support among businessmen still reasonably intact — strained, but not ruptured.

Change Outlined On Dog Licenses In Pennsylvania

The signing of a new law at Harrisburg by Gov. William Scranton has brought major changes in the cost of kennel licenses in Pennsylvania, Floree J. Aquino, Beaver County treasurer, reminded today.

However, regular licenses for male and spayed dogs remains at $1 and for females at $2.

The minimum kennel fee under Act. 437 passed last Dec. 22 is $15 per year. The former rate was $10.

Other kennel fees are $25 for 11 to 20 dogs; $100 for a kennel of less than 500 dogs used for the purposes of buying and selling to laboratories, breeding, hospitals, or other research establishments; $250 for kennels of more than 500, but less than 5,000 dogs, used for the same purposes, and $500 for kennels with more than 5,000 dogs used in the same manner.

Crash Damages City Men's Autos

Cars driven by two city men were damaged extensively in a collision at 12:13 this morning at a North Side intersection, police reported.

The mishap at Anderson Blvd. and Orchard Grove Ave. involved a 1963 two - door sedan driven by Donald E. Black, 34, of 1651 Cleveland Ave. and a 1960 two - door operated by James W. Popp, 40, of 1100 Vine St., officers said. There was extensive damage to the left side of Black's auto and the left front of Popp's car, officers said.

Black told officers he was driving on Orchard Grove Ave. and halted for a stop sign at the junction with Anderson Blvd. But his foot slipped off the brake pedal and before he could halt the car again it was on Anderson Blvd. in front of Popp's car, he said. Popp, who was driving west on Anderson Blvd., agreed with Black's report, police said.

Diplomacy

Leaving the Thai capital for Tokyo, Harriman said he got "extremely valuable" advice from Khoman but brushed aside further questions. Thailand, one of the staunchest supporters of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, has permitted stationing of U.S. troops and equipment and allowed American planes to take off from Thailand to bomb North Viet Nam.

Harriman's visit to Tokyo comes eight days after one by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. While Humphrey tried to explain and defend U.S. policy in Viet Nam to skeptical Japanese officials, it was understood Harriman would go a step further in his talks with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina. He will try to enlist Japan as a go-between with Moscow and Hanoi.

Shiina will leave for Moscow Jan. 16.

Shortly before Harriman's arrival, a government spokesman said Japanese diplomats abroad had been asked to report back on the attitude of their host countries toward a peace conference. This indicated Sato's government intended to play a major role as a peacemaker. Many Japanese have been clamoring for a halt to the fighting.

Accompanying Shelepin were Dimitry F. Utinov, a party secretary and former chief of economic development, and Col. Gen. Valdimir F. Tolubko, deputy commander of Soviet strategic rocket forces.

The Tass announcement did not say how long the Shelepin mission will be in Hanoi. The United States will presumably continue the suspension of U.S. raids on North Viet Nam during the visit. The bombing pause is now in its 14th day since the Christmas cease-fire began.

A U.S. spokesman said the youngsters may have been used as Viet Cong spies and "it is always worthwhile to interrogate them." He said reports from the field showed 314 Viet Cong had been killed, many by U.S. artillery and naval gunfire, during the Korean-Vietnamese operation.

The Viet Cong were reported continuing terror killings in villages the Saigon government has sought to bring back under its control. In the past week, the U.S. Military Command said, 32 village and hamlet officials were killed, 61 were wounded and 130 kidnaped. One farmer was tied to a stake and burned.

Vietnamese authorities reported nine guerrilla attacks in the past 24 hours, but a spokesman said most were of small consequence and caused little damage.

U.S. Marines flew in 32 helicopters to a sector southwest of Da Nang Wednesday. They came under heavy mortar fire in the landing zones but escaped with light casualties, a spokesman said.

Fanning out, the Marines killed five Viet Cong, captured four and seized two tons of rice. But more than 100 Viet Cong escaped by swimming the Du Gia River.

Evidence of new heavy Communist firepower came with the disclosure by U.S. ordnance experts that the Communists used mammoth-sized 120mm mortars to attack the Special Forces camp at Khe Sanh near the North Vietnamese frontier Tuesday. The attack destroyed a U.S. Special Forces barracks and disabled two parked light observation planes.

In Saigon, several hundred students demonstrated to protest the murder of a pro-American Vietnamese editor who was slain by a terrorist Dec. 30. The students carried anti-Communist banners and held a memorial service for Tu Chung, who had written anti-Communist articles despite threats.

About 100 soldiers turned out to make sure the demonstration did not get out of hand.

Gunmen 'Hit' Station Twice In 26 Hours

The Keystone Service Station on Route 51 at Fallston, Pa., was struck for the second time in 26 hours by two armed robbers this morning at 2:45.

Two men described as being about 5-foot-8 and in their early 20's entered the station at 2:45 and held attendant Royal Boyer of 1834 3rd Ave., Beaver Falls, at bay with a small caliber revolver and knife and fled with $114.

The men are believed to have escaped in a 1957 pink and white Chevrolet.

At 12:25 a.m. Tuesday, two armed robbers menaced attendant Harry L. Conkel of Fallston with a revolver and switch blade knife and escaped with $100.

Conkel described the gunman in the Tuesday robbery as being about 200 pounds and light complexioned.

The knife - bearer appeared to be about 18, 5-foot-9, weighing 160 pounds. Both men wore brown plaid jackets and dark trousers.

Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa Township and Fallston Police Chief Robert Meinard are investigating.

—Helped prepare a false tax return for Bromley to conceal income that went to Baker; and —Took by "felonious conversion," or theft, $67,000 from two Los Angeles savings and loan executives, in each case failing to report much of it as taxable income.

The grand jury also indicted a former lieutenant governor of Nevada, Clifford Jones, on three counts of perjury for allegedly false statements Jones made to the jury last march. Jones' indictment carries a maximum penalty of 15 years and $6,000.

Jones and Bromley are named as coconspirators in the conspiracy count against Baker. They are not defendants, however.

Baker was Democratic secretary when Johnson, then a Texas senator, was Democratic leader. The two worked closely together and Johnson once described Baker as "one of my most trusted, most loyal and most competent friends."

Hailing Baker on another occasion as "my strong right arm," Johnson said Baker was "the last man I see at night, the first one I see in the morning."

The White House made no comment on the indictment. Johnson has refused to discuss the Baker case publicly since he entered the presidency.

STARKE, Fla. (AP)—A donation he made 43 years ago is coming back to Rev. J. T. Quigley, an 85-year-old retired minister. In 1922, residents of the city provided the money to put street lights on Call Street. These eight foot lights with globes on top are now being replaced by the city. Rev. Quigley, the only survivor of those who purchased the lamps, is being given six of the street lights for his antique collection as a sentimental gesture of the City Council.

Diplomacy

Leaving the Thai capital for Tokyo, Harriman said he got "extremely valuable" advice from Khoman but brushed aside further questions. Thailand, one of the staunchest supporters of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, has permitted stationing of U.S. troops and equipment and allowed American planes to take off from Thailand to bomb North Viet Nam.

Harriman's visit to Tokyo comes eight days after one by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. While Humphrey tried to explain and defend U.S. policy in Viet Nam to skeptical Japanese officials, it was understood Harriman would go a step further in his talks with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina. He will try to enlist Japan as a go-between with Moscow and Hanoi.

Shiina will leave for Moscow Jan. 16.

Shortly before Harriman's arrival, a government spokesman said Japanese diplomats abroad had been asked to report back on the attitude of their host countries toward a peace conference. This indicated Sato's government intended to play a major role as a peacemaker. Many Japanese have been clamoring for a halt to the fighting.

Accompanying Shelepin were Dimitry F. Utinov, a party secretary and former chief of economic development, and Col. Gen. Valdimir F. Tolubko, deputy commander of Soviet strategic rocket forces.

The Tass announcement did not say how long the Shelepin mission will be in Hanoi. The United States will presumably continue the suspension of U.S. raids on North Viet Nam during the visit. The bombing pause is now in its 14th day since the Christmas cease-fire began.

A U.S. spokesman said the youngsters may have been used as Viet Cong spies and "it is always worthwhile to interrogate them." He said reports from the field showed 314 Viet Cong had been killed, many by U.S. artillery and naval gunfire, during the Korean-Vietnamese operation.

The Viet Cong were reported continuing terror killings in villages the Saigon government has sought to bring back under its control. In the past week, the U.S. Military Command said, 32 village and hamlet officials were killed, 61 were wounded and 130 kidnaped. One farmer was tied to a stake and burned.

Vietnamese authorities reported nine guerrilla attacks in the past 24 hours, but a spokesman said most were of small consequence and caused little damage.

U.S. Marines flew in 32 helicopters to a sector southwest of Da Nang Wednesday. They came under heavy mortar fire in the landing zones but escaped with light casualties, a spokesman said.

Fanning out, the Marines killed five Viet Cong, captured four and seized two tons of rice. But more than 100 Viet Cong escaped by swimming the Du Gia River.

Evidence of new heavy Communist firepower came with the disclosure by U.S. ordnance experts that the Communists used mammoth-sized 120mm mortars to attack the Special Forces camp at Khe Sanh near the North Vietnamese frontier Tuesday. The attack destroyed a U.S. Special Forces barracks and disabled two parked light observation planes.

In Saigon, several hundred students demonstrated to protest the murder of a pro-American Vietnamese editor who was slain by a terrorist Dec. 30. The students carried anti-Communist banners and held a memorial service for Tu Chung, who had written anti-Communist articles despite threats.

About 100 soldiers turned out to make sure the demonstration did not get out of hand.

Also a Democrat, he will run for probate judge in Belmont County.

Conkel described the gunman in the Tuesday robbery as being about 200 pounds and light complexioned.

—Helped prepare a false tax return for Bromley to conceal income that went to Baker; and

—Took by "felonious conversion," or theft, $67,000 from two Los Angeles savings and loan executives, in each case failing to report much of it as taxable income.

The grand jury also indicted a former lieutenant governor of Nevada, Clifford Jones, on three counts of perjury for allegedly false statements Jones made to the jury last march. Jones' indictment carries a maximum penalty of 15 years and $6,000.

Jones and Bromley are named as coconspirators in the conspiracy count against Baker. They are not defendants, however.

Baker was Democratic secretary when Johnson, then a Texas senator, was Democratic leader. The two worked closely together and Johnson once described Baker as "one of my most trusted, most loyal and most competent friends."

Hailing Baker on another occasion as "my strong right arm," Johnson said Baker was "the last man I see at night, the first one I see in the morning."

The White House made no comment on the indictment. Johnson has refused to discuss the Baker case publicly since he entered the presidency.

Gets Lamps Back

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — A donation he made 43 years ago is coming back to Rev. J. T. Quigley, an 85-year-old retired minister. In 1922, residents of the city provided the money to put street lights on Call Street. These eight foot lights with globes on top are now being replaced by the city. Rev. Quigley, the only survivor of those who purchased the lamps, is being given six of the street lights for his antique collection as a sentimental gesture of the City Council.

Swaney Is Logical Airport Site

With the narrowing of potential Columbiana County Airport sites to two — Swaney Airport at Glenmoor and Orchard Hill tract near Leetonia — the possibility of a so-called centralized location for the proposed facility has been eliminated.

With this controversial and complex problem facing the County Airport Authority, it is important to bear in mind the chief objective of establishing airports in counties which do not have them.

As originally planned in the state bond issue from which $100,000 is to be allocated to counties for aviation facilities, airports were to be established in areas where there was a need for economic development.

GOV. RHODES' continuing efforts to promote industrial growth for Ohio has shown success through these very realistic programs which call for investing money in projects which will show results.

There is ample evidence of a need for such economic development in Columbiana County. The question is — in relation to what an airport can best do for development—where is that need most critical?

A review of data available to all county and municipal leaders reveals clearly that the southern part of the county has less employment, lower family income, greater percentage of unemployed, less industry and many other aspects which underline the critical need for an air facility which would aid present industry and business and encourage new industry to establish in the county.

This need, along with availability of Swaney's property without cost plus room for expansion, and the nearness of the site to Route 11, making it accessible to all parts of the county, marks the Glenmoor tract as the one which would be most beneficial to the county—in terms of aviation service and economic development.

SELECTION OF THE Leetonia tract, near a school—which poses a possible hazard—would put an airport in the area of Salem, which already has the facilities of a nearby airport plus the Youngstown Airport.

Any other decision than to place the new airport at Swaney would be difficult to accept in view of the many additional benefits the county can reap with the facility in the southern part of the county.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I jump out of my skin when bully-boys tell us little people why we should fight to the last man to do what the bully-boys have in mind. What if they're wrong?

Americans have been encouraged to ask questions. This is what makes us different from other nations. Bully-boyism was ruled out of order by the founders of this republic. It was our protection against rule by force.

The founders couldn't change human nature. All they could do was to make it hard for bully-boys to get other people by the throat. They couldn't outlaw attempts to do it.

The thought keeps crossing my mind in my January meditation (I always meditate after New Year) that we are living through an era of upheaval in traditional shapes and forms. Our own country was the result of such an upheaval. So was the Republic of France. We overthrew rule by force.

When the bully-boys of those times tried to smash the upheaval, they were flabbergasted to learn they were up against something too strong to be smashed.

The revolutionaries were too tough, too dedicated, to be crushed by force. War as an instrument of national policy began to be obsolete right then, in the latter part of the 18th century. Western civilization did not have to wait until the Kellogg-Briand Treaty in 1928 to know thoughtful men had renounced militarism as an effectual instrumental national policy.

The rub was that not all men were thoughtful. The bully-boys got loose again in World War II. They got loose in Korea, and now they are going at it in Viet Nam. They are going to fight it out on this line if it takes every last man.

We don't hear about the Kellogg-Brian Pact any more. I doubt if you remember that a U.S. secretary of state, Frank B. Kellogg, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for helping to bring it about.

It is of no importance any more, because we know now that it means nothing for governments to renounce war unless there is some way to hold them to it when militarists get the upper hand and try to rock and sock their way to a satisfactory conclusion.

We still aren't prepared to accept what the Kellogg-Briand Treaty affirmed in 1928—that war doesn't work. That is, some of us aren't. But some of us are. And that is why we're having so much discussion.

Nobody knows what to do about a situation in which the United States is entangled in a war it doesn't believe it can win with the old-time rock-'em-sock-'em formula. Nobody knew what to do about it when it happened in Korea.

That's why I jump out of my skin when war hawks clack their beaks. They say they are doing it because the other side is doing it, but I don't think the other side is any better off than we are. They never heard of the Kellogg-Briand Treaty, but they're finding out why war is a poor instrument of national policy for them too.

Did I wish you a Happy New Year? I can't remember.

COTTON COTNERS — UNCLE GEORGE

'Victims Of Violence' Law

SACRAMENTO, Calif.

The reluctance of California welfare officials to hand over public funds to anyone not actually destitute has posed problems for the state's new "Victims of Violence" law.

The praise was loud and lavish last July when California became the first state to adopt a law based on the concept that society owes the innocent victims of violent crimes treatment at least equal to that provided for their attackers.

It brought the state national attention, including a letter of commendation from Arthur J. Goldberg, then a member of the United States Supreme Court.

Overlooked was the fact that the bill provided only $100,000 to initiate the program. More importantly, it was placed in the hands of state welfare department officials to administer—and they had made no secret of their distaste for the new law.

"It violates our whole philosophy," said Percy Moore, assistant to the welfare director.

It was obvious that the idea of giving public funds to someone not really a pauper made welfare officials distinctly uneasy.

It wasn't surprising, therefore, that they drew up stiff regulations to control distribution of the funds.

As written by the department's staff, the regulations provide that only persons with dependent children, or the children themselves, can qualify for aid.

This automatically rules out help, for example, for an elderly woman knocked down and injured by a purse-snatcher. Of course, once she had exhausted her life savings on medical bills she might become eligible for some other form of welfare aid.

The regulations also ruled out help for anyone having more than $15,500 worth of real and personal property. Excluded by this provision would be the owner of a small grocery who also happened to own a modest home and a car.

Welfare officials defended the tightness of their regulations by pointing out that the legislature had given them only $100,000 to work with during the 1965-66 fiscal year. What would happen, they asked, if the legislators had written regulations making a wide range of victims eligible?

"We would have helped the first 30 or 40 applicants and then the money would have run out and the rest would have been turned away—and you can imagine the screaming that would have produced," said one official.

They noted that the law said innocent victims should be helped regardless of wealth but only if they could show need.

It was the "need" provision that welfare officials used to justify the $15,500 limit on property holdings.

These stringent regulations, naturally failed to please the backers of the plan.

Shock Number One!

Congress Has Headaches, Too

By Andrew J. Glass

An election-year Congress will soon march forward to a series of troubling decisions that well could be made without listening to President John's once-commanding drum.

After a three-month recess, the lawmakers are returning to Washington racked by new emotional and budgetary conflicts caused by the growing war in Southeast Asia. Thus, the issue of war or peace, victory or defeat, in Viet Nam promises to engulf all others in the coming session.

If preliminary soundings prove correct, the "fabulous 89th" will resume work Jan. 10 in a lot less docile frame of mind toward the White House than during the highly prolific opening session.

Fundamentally, Johnson's situation has changed because, barring an early cease-fire he must ask Congress for $10-$15 billion this year to pay for the Viet Nam war in order to meet the increased needs presented by his military commanders.

The request will probably total $3 to $5 billion more than was spent on Viet Nam this year. It well could be coupled with a declaration of a national emergency and the calling up of reservists.

If last year's pattern is followed, Johnson could stagger his Viet Nam money requests over the course of the year rather than presenting his entire package in the budget to be submitted to Congress late in January.

Moreover, these huge military outlays will warp the fabric of the domestic budget and, necessarily leave a large mark on the President's newly launched Great Society programs.

According to a leading Democratic member of the House, "appropriations will spark the big battles of the session. The Republicans will be out to cut Lyndon down and they could well succeed," he added.

Moderate Brake On Program

Although the White House is still at work on its legislative program for 1966, all signs point to only a moderate brake on existing Great Society programs, such as aid-to-education and the war on poverty.

Thus, proposed funding for the poverty program could even be granted a small dollar increase—but nowhere near the doubling of the present $1.5 billion allotment that the poverty fighters were seeking.

The big problem facing Johnson, however, is that practically any budget he submits must pare one domestic program or another to meet the rising expenses of the war.

Those programs that are left alone or cut only slightly will be vulnerable to attack by the Republicans on the grounds that they are inflationary and not in keeping with the economies that must be pursued in wartime.

But slashing other programs could lead to political strains within the liberal Democratic camp on Capitol Hill.

And the pulling and hauling that results from this situation could cost the President the working majority in both Houses that performed so effectively for him in 1965.

All of Johnson's Viet Nam requests will, of course, be honored. There is no inclination in Congress, after all the talk is over, to cripple the President's direction of the war.

But there will be a good deal of talk as liberal Democrats search for ways to voice and thus identify with, the doubts being expressed by their constituents over the uncertain course of the battle up to now.

Meantime, Republican demands for dealing North Viet Nam a knockout punch by air and sea will grow should the land war in the south drag on inconclusively. The GOP could be joined by such conservative Democrats as House Armed Services chairman, Mendel Rivers, D-SC, who may demand an attack on Red China as the only way of achieving an American "victory."

Freshmen Have Second Thoughts

Moreover, many of the three-score freshmen Democrats on whom the White House relied so heavily last year to get its proposals across are having second thoughts on giving their all-out support to Johnson this year.

In the main, this group was elected from normally Republican districts on the coattails of Johnson's 1964 landslide victory. They are now under self-generated pressure to show their independence by casting conservative, anti-administration votes that could broaden their appeal to the voters back home.

On the other hand, some liberal Democrats will fight to retain the Great Society gains of 1965 and to expend them. To this group, the domestic effort for social welfare is every bit as important as the war effort in Viet Nam.

"We have two wars on our hands and we can't afford to lose either," Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., asserted the other day.

A strong division of opinion has also arisen within the GOP minority on the spending issue. Thus, Sen. Clifford Case, R-NJ, declared this week that the conflict in Viet Nam must not be allowed to pinch off funds for the war on racial discrimination, poverty, disease and ignorance at home.

At the same time, Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., held that "we must fight the war first" and that domestic programs are going to have to be cut back to provide for sharp increases in the military budget.

"This is one of the biggest headaches the President has," Dirksen observed, "to keep expenditures in balance, he is going to have to cut somewhere and he certainly can't cut on the war."

Adding to Johnson's difficulties is the fact that his luster in Congress has diminished somewhat by the passage of time. He is no longer the newly-elected President that vanquished the GOP conservatives with 61 per cent of the vote.

A few defeats near the close of the first session on such issues as home rule for the District of Columbia and repeal of "right-to-work" also indicated that the President's will is not always law—thus opening the possibility of fresh reversals in 1966.

Less Need For Congress

On the other hand, the President will need Congress a lot less this year than he did last, when his program was yet to be launched. To the extent that the White House is forced to focus most of its attention on foreign policy problems, Congress will play a secondary and largely supporting role. The lawmakers will be needed to endorse his foreign policy. But they will not shape it.

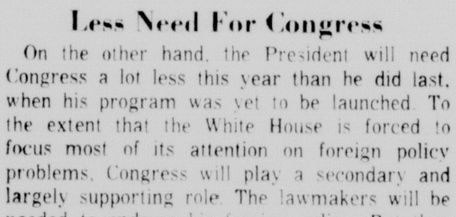

In the light of his budget dilemma, the new programs that Johnson advances at the coming session are likely to cost little or no money. The truth-in-lending and truth-packaging legislation receiving White House backing reflect the new Spartan mood.

Johnson also is likely to make a start on his ambitious plans to reorganize the government, thus making it function more efficiently and, if possible, more cheaply.

For example, a proposal to consolidate under one rule all the government's lending activities, now spread through several agencies, might wind up in the legislative hopper after the State-of-the-Union address.

Johnson said some months before Congress quit last year that he expected the 1966 session to be a relatively quiet one. He hoped, he said, that Congress would be able to wind up its business and go home by the end of June.

The legislators' light working schedule could still yield a June adjournment. But if the session turns out to be short, it's a fair bet to assume that it won't be sweet.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

This letter is written to the lowest of low sneak thieves on the face of the earth.

How anyone could live with himself after stealing from the dead is beyond me.

We had the lowest opinion of them before when they repeatedly stole flowers from my mother's and baby's graves in Spring Grove Cemetery. We thought then perhaps it was children who were never taught to respect the dead. However, this week when we discovered a large white cast - iron vase gone, we knew children were not responsible.

It had to be grown men who would stoop so low to do such a thing.

My father was broken - hearted when the flowers he placed on my mother's grave for Easter were stolen. He died in May. Now the vase that was his pride and joy—that he worked so hard getting cleaned and painted — has been stolen.

Yes, perhaps, I can buy another one, but it will never take the place of the one that my beloved father worked so hard with.

So I am asking if anyone knows anything about this white cast-iron vase, would you please contact me. I will make a very generous reward for the person responsible for my recovery of this vase.

Legislators Can Curb Strikes

The whole country has been given a dramatic example of how an autocracy in control of 33,000 workers can paralyze the transportation system of the second-largest city in the world. The issue is not personal — it isn't just an eccentric or demagogic personality like that of Michael Quill which deserves criticism but the subservient attitude of the members of his labor union who are ordered to go on strike and fail to take into account the possible consequences of their action. This is the problem that David Lawrence plagues the United States today as strike after strike is called which arbitrarily causes the loss of many millions of dollars a day to innocent bystanders.

Congress has been negligent in dealing with union autocracies as well as union monopolies. Many an industry has its costs fixed by extremists like Mr. Quill. There is no mechanism which insures fairness or a conciliatory process which takes into account all the equities in a dispute.

What is called collective bargaining is a farce. It's "collective" only in the sense that the united power of the workers is utilized to blackjack employers into submission. The "bargaining" often fails to recognize that there are limits to the payments which can be made by management.

AGAIN AND AGAIN an ultimatum is issued by a labor union leader, and the employer finds himself comparing the huge cost of a strike with the expense of granting the wage demands. Many a manager has taken the risk of agreeing to high wage scales that he really can't afford, only to find himself later forced out of business.

The annual cost of strikes reaches fantastic figures, especially when public facilities are involved that cause damage to citizens in every walk of life but the costs of the wage increases themselves which are applied to large and small companies alike in many industries are even greater. They lead to the abolition of the marginal competitors. Mergers are frequently the result of the ill effects of excessive demands made by labor unions. Individual companies grow larger as the free - enterprise system is eroded.

Congress in recent years has ignored the destructive influence of the extremists in labor-union leadership. The labor unions themselves have gone deeply into politics and have collected millions of dollars to help elect members of Congress — primarily the candidates of the Democratic party. This is a form of bribery that has gone unrebuked in America, though sooner or later the corrupt influence of campaign contributions must inevitably be recognized as agsinst the public interest.

CONGRESS HAS THE POWER to regulate labor-management relations. During the last 18 years virtually no important amendments to existing laws have been enacted to cut down the abuses in the conduct of labor relations. Indeed, the National Labor Relations Board, which is supposed to be a quasi-judicial body, has become an instrument of politics. Its one-sided rulings have begun to astonish lawyers who have watched the week-by-week decisions that have tolerated the unions' misuse of the collective-bargaining power.

Today the word "inflation" is supposed to describe a dangerous trend — dangerous to the pocketbooks of the citizens and the future of the national economy. But the inflationary crisis, while partly the result of the unsound financial operations of the federal government, is mostly due to the forcing up of wage costs and prices because of strikes and threats of strikes by labor unions.

What may Congress do? It can limit the right of labor-union leaders to call a strike unless the issues have been made clear to all concerned, and until, in cases of deadlock, an opportunity has been given for disinterested tribunals or boards to evaluate the arguments and tell the union members the true situation so they will not be misled by irresponsible leaders.

Congress claims the right to regulate interstate commerce, and certainly labor unions today are engaged in an interstate process. Almost all products or services are an integral part of a national system of interstate commerce and communication. Congress thus has full responsibility for preventing costly strikes.

Swaney Is Logical Airport Site

With the narrowing of potential Columbiana County Airport sites to two — Swaney Airport at Glenmoor and Orchard Hill tract near Leetonia — the possibility of a so-called centralized location for the proposed facility has been eliminated.

With this controversial and complex problem facing the County Airport Authority, it is important to bear in mind the chief objective of establishing airports in counties which do not have them.

As originally planned in the state bond issue from which $100,000 is to be allocated to counties for aviation facilities, airports were to be established in areas where there was a need for economic development.

GOV. RHODES' continuing efforts to promote industrial growth for Ohio has shown success through these very realistic programs which call for investing money in projects which will show results.

There is ample evidence of a need for such economic development in Columbiana County. The question is — in relation to what an airport can best do for development—where is that need most critical?

A review of data available to all county and municipal leaders reveals clearly that the southern part of the county has less employment, lower family income, greater percentage of unemployed, less industry and many other aspects which underline the critical need for an air facility which would aid present industry and business and encourage new industry to establish in the county.

This need, along with availability of Swaney's property without cost plus room for expansion, and the nearness of the site to Route 11, making it accessible to all parts of the county, marks the Glenmoor tract as the one which would be most beneficial to the county—in terms of aviation service and economic development.

SELECTION OF THE Leetonia tract, near a school—which poses a possible hazard—would put an airport in the area of Salem, which already has the facilities of a nearby airport plus the Youngstown Airport.

Any other decision than to place the new airport at Swaney would be difficult to accept in view of the many additional benefits the county can reap with the facility in the southern part of the county.

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: I jump out of my skin when bully-boys tell us little people why we should fight to the last man to do what the bully-boys have in mind. What if they're wrong?

Americans have been encouraged to ask questions. This is what makes us different from other nations. Bully-boyism was ruled out of order by the founders of this republic. It was our protection against rule by force.

The founders couldn't change human nature. All they could do was to make it hard for bully-boys to get other people by the throat. They couldn't outlaw attempts to do it.

The thought keeps crossing my mind in my January meditation (I always meditate after New Year) that we are living through an era of upheaval in traditional shapes and forms. Our own country was the result of such an upheaval. So was the Republic of France. We overthrew rule by force.

When the bully-boys of those times tried to smash the upheaval, they were flabbergasted to learn they were up against something too strong to be smashed.

The revolutionaries were too tough, too dedicated, to be crushed by force. War as an instrument of national policy began to be obsolete right then, in the latter part of the 18th century. Western civilization did not have to wait until the Kellogg-Briand Treaty in 1928 to know thoughtful men had renounced militarism as an effectual instrumental national policy.

The rub was that not all men were thoughtful. The bully-boys got loose again in World War II. They got loose in Korea, and now they are going at it in Viet Nam. They are going to fight it out on this line if it takes every last man.

We don't hear about the Kellogg-Brian Pact any more. I doubt if you remember that a U.S. secretary of state, Frank B. Kellogg, was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for helping to bring it about.

It is of no importance any more, because we know now that it means nothing for governments to renounce war unless there is some way to hold them to it when militarists get the upper hand and try to rock and sock their way to a satisfactory conclusion.

We still aren't prepared to accept what the Kellogg-Briand Treaty affirmed in 1928—that war doesn't work. That is, some of us aren't. But some of us are. And that is why we're having so much discussion.

Nobody knows what to do about a situation in which the United States is entangled in a war it doesn't believe it can win with the old-time rock-'em-sock-'em formula. Nobody knew what to do about it when it happened in Korea.

That's why I jump out of my skin when war hawks clack their beaks. They say they are doing it because the other side is doing it, but I don't think the other side is any better off than we are. They never heard of the Kellogg-Briand Treaty, but they're finding out why war is a poor instrument of national policy for them, too.

Did I wish you a Happy New Year? I can't remember.

COTTON COTNERS UNCLE GEORGE

'Victims Of Violence' Law

SACRAMENTO, Calif.

The reluctance of California welfare officials to hand over public funds to anyone not actually destitute has posed problems for the state's new "Victims of Violence" law.

The praise was loud and lavish last July when California became the first state to adopt a law based on the concept that society owes the innocent victims of violent crimes treatment at least equal to that provided for their attackers.

It brought the state national attention, including a letter of commendation from Arthur J. Goldberg, then a member of the United States Supreme Court.

Overlooked was the fact that the bill provided only $100,000 to initiate the program. More importantly, it was placed in the hands of state welfare department officials to administer—and they had made no secret of their distaste for the new law.

"It violates our whole philosophy," said Percy Moore, assistant to the welfare director.

It was obvious that the idea of giving public funds to someone not really a pauper made welfare officials distinctly uneasy.

It wasn't surprising, therefore, that they drew up stiff regulations to control distribution of the funds.

As written by the department's staff, the regulations provide that only persons with dependent children, or the children themselves, can qualify for aid.

This automatically rules out help, for example, for an elderly woman knocked down and injured by a purse-snatcher. Of course, once she had exhausted her life savings on medical bills she might become eligible for some other form of welfare aid.

The regulations also ruled out help for anyone having more than $15,500 worth of real and personal property. Excluded by this provision would be the owner of a small grocery who also happened to own a modest home and a car.

Welfare officials defended the tightness of their regulations by pointing out that the legislature had given them only $100,000 to work with during the 1965-66 fiscal year. What would happen, they asked, if the legislators had written regulations making a wide range of victims eligible?

"We would have helped the first 30 or 40 applicants and then the money would have run out and the rest would have been turned away—and you can imagine the screaming that would have produced," said one official.

They noted that the law said innocent victims should be helped regardless of wealth but only if they could show need.

It was the "need" provision that welfare officials used to justify the $15,500 limit on property holdings.

These stringent regulations, naturally failed to please the backers of the plan.

Shock Number One!

Congress Has Headaches, Too

By Andrew J. Glass

An election-year Congress will soon march forward to a series of troubling decisions that well could be made without listening to President John's once-commanding drum.

After a three-month recess, the lawmakers are returning to Washington racked by new emotional and budgetary conflicts caused by the growing war in Southeast Asia. Thus, the issue of war or peace, victory or defeat, in Viet Nam promises to engulf all others in the coming session.

If preliminary soundings prove correct, the "fabulous 89th" will resume work Jan. 10 in a lot less docile frame of mind toward the White House than during the highly prolific opening session.

Fundamentally, Johnson's situation has changed because, barring an early cease-fire he must ask Congress for $10-$15 billion this year to pay for the Viet Nam war in order to meet the increased needs presented by his military commanders.

The request will probably total $3 to $5 billion more than was spent on Viet Nam this year. It well could be coupled with a declaration of a national emergency and the calling up of reservists.

If last year's pattern is followed, Johnson could stagger his Viet Nam money requests over the course of the year rather than presenting his entire package in the budget to be submitted to Congress late in January.

Moreover, these huge military outlays will warp the fabric of the domestic budget and, necessarily leave a large mark on the President's newly launched Great Society programs.

According to a leading Democratic member of the House, "appropriations will spark the big battles of the session. The Republicans will be out to cut Lyndon down and they could well succeed," he added.

Moderate Brake On Program

Although the White House is still at work on its legislative program for 1966, all signs point to only a moderate brake on existing Great Society programs, such as aid-to-education and the war on poverty.

Thus, proposed funding for the poverty program could even be granted a small dollar increase—but nowhere near the doubling of the present $1.5 billion allotment that the poverty fighters were seeking.

The big problem facing Johnson, however, is that practically any budget he submits must pare one domestic program or another to meet the rising expenses of the war.

Those programs that are left alone or cut only slightly will be vulnerable to attack by the Republicans on the grounds that they are inflationary and not in keeping with the economies that must be pursued in wartime.

But slashing other programs could lead to political strains within the liberal Democratic camp on Capitol Hill.

And the pulling and hauling that results from this situation could cost the President the working majority in both Houses that performed so effectively for him in 1965.

All of Johnson's Viet Nam requests will, of course, be honored. There is no inclination in Congress, after all the talk is over, to cripple the President's direction of the war.

But there will be a good deal of talk as liberal Democrats search for ways to voice and thus identify with, the doubts being expressed by their constituents over the uncertain course of the battle up to now.

Meantime, Republican demands for dealing North Viet Nam a knockout punch by air and sea will grow should the land war in the south drag on inconclusively. The GOP could be joined by such conservative Democrats as House Armed Services chairman, Mendel Rivers, D-SC, who may demand an attack on Red China as the only way of achieving an American "victory."

Freshmen Have Second Thoughts

Moreover, many of the three-score freshmen Democrats on whom the White House relied so heavily last year to get its proposals across are having second thoughts on giving their all-out support to Johnson this year.

In the main, this group was elected from normally Republican districts on the coattails of Johnson's 1964 landslide victory. They are now under self-generated pressure to show their independence by casting conservative, anti-administration votes that could broaden their appeal to the voters back home.

On the other hand, some liberal Democrats will fight to retain the Great Society gains of 1965 and to expend them. To this group, the domestic effort for social welfare is every bit as important as the war effort in Viet Nam.

"We have two wars on our hands and we can't afford to lose either," Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., asserted the other day.

A strong division of opinion has also arisen within the GOP minority on the spending issue. Thus, Sen. Clifford Case, R-NJ, declared this week that the conflict in Viet Nam must not be allowed to pinch off funds for the war on racial discrimination, poverty, disease and ignorance at home.

At the same time, Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., held that "we must fight the war first" and that domestic programs are going to have to be cut back to provide for sharp increases in the military budget.

"This is one of the biggest headaches the President has," Dirksen observed, "to keep expenditures in balance, he is going to have to cut somewhere and he certainly can't cut on the war."

Adding to Johnson's difficulties is the fact that his luster in Congress has diminished somewhat by the passage of time. He is no longer the newly-elected President that vanquished the GOP conservatives with 61 per cent of the vote.

A few defeats near the close of the first session on such issues as home rule for the District of Columbia and repeal of "right-to-work" also indicated that the President's will is not always law—thus opening the possibility of fresh reversals in 1966.

Less Need For Congress

On the other hand, the President will need Congress a lot less this year than he did last, when his program was yet to be launched. To the extent that the White House is forced to focus most of its attention on foreign policy problems, Congress will play a secondary and largely supporting role. The lawmakers will be needed to endorse his foreign policy. But they will not shape it.

In the light of his budget dilemma, the new programs that Johnson advances at the coming session are likely to cost little or no money. The truth-in-lending and truth-packaging legislation receiving White House backing reflect the new Spartan mood.

Johnson also is likely to make a start on his ambitious plans to reorganize the government, thus making it function more efficiently and, if possible, more cheaply.

For example, a proposal to consolidate under one rule all the government's lending activities, now spread through several agencies, might wind up in the legislative hopper after the State-of-the-Union address.

Johnson said some months before Congress quit last year that he expected the 1966 session to be a relatively quiet one. He hoped, he said, that Congress would be able to wind up its business and go home by the end of June.

The legislators' light working schedule could still yield a June adjournment. But if the session turns out to be short, it's a fair bet to assume that it won't be sweet.

Woman Cited After Mishap

A 54-year-old area woman was cited after a two-car collision in Calcutta Wednesday afternoon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Beatrice McCormick of R. D. 3 was charged with failure to yield the right of way after her 1962 coach and a 1965 coach driven by Gary D. Zimmerman, 20, of R.D. 3 collided at the intersection of Route 170 and the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. at 3:45.

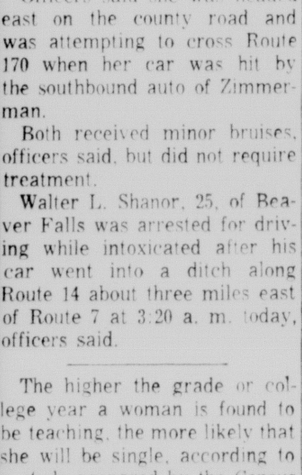

Officers said she was headed east on the county road and was attempting to cross Route 170 when her car was hit by the southbound auto of Zimmerman.

Both received minor bruises, officers said, but did not require treatment.

Walter L. Shanor, 25, of Beaver Falls was arrested for driving while intoxicated after his car went into a ditch along Route 14 about three miles east of Route 7 at 3:20 a. m. today, officers said.

The higher the grade or college year a woman is found to be teaching, the more likely that she will be single, according to a study prepared by the Census Bureau.

Suspended Patrolman Resigns In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — City patrolman Melvin (Sparky) MacDonald, suspended last spring in a dispute with superiors over where he lived, resigned Wednesday after 27 years on the force.

MacDonald said his doctor advised him to resign because of a calcium condition.

MacDonald was suspended by Safety Director David Craig for allegedly living outside the city limits, a violation of police regulations.

A trial board of fellow officers later cleared MacDonald of all charges.

JUST PLAIN TIRE-D. Owning your own service station has some advantages, as Clarence R. Schmidt, of St. Petersburg, Fla., will tell you. When business is slow you can always curl up on a stack of old tires and relax for a spell. It's not the most comfortable way to take it easy, but it beats working.

AT HOME IN THE DOME. This picture could have been taken at a swank new restaurant in Paris, London, Rome or New York, but it wasn't. The scene is the Houston Astrodome, the all-weather enclosed sports arena. It's a far cry from the old hot dog stands of baseball's early days, but Texans seem to like things on a grand scale.

Woman Cited After Mishap

A 54-year-old area woman was cited after a two-car collision in Calcutta Wednesday afternoon, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Beatrice McCormick of R. D. 3 was charged with failure to yield the right of way after her 1962 coach and a 1965 coach driven by Gary D. Zimmerman, 20, of R.D. 3 collided at the intersection of Route 170 and the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. at 3:45.

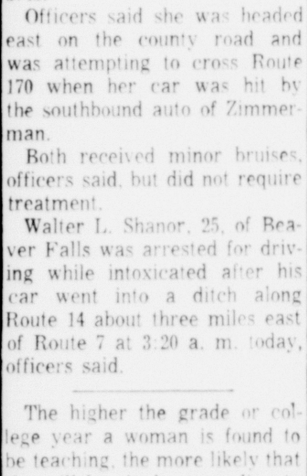

Officers said she was headed east on the county road and was attempting to cross Route 170 when her car was hit by the southbound auto of Zimmerman.

Both received minor bruises, officers said, but did not require treatment.

Walter L. Shanor, 25, of Beaver Falls was arrested for driving while intoxicated after his car went into a ditch along Route 14 about three miles east of Route 7 at 3:20 a. m. today, officers said.

The higher the grade or college year a woman is found to be teaching, the more likely that she will be single, according to a study prepared by the Census Bureau.

New Storm Slams Into California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another storm slammed into northwestern California today in a region where 1,000 persons already have left their homes, many roads have been closed and snow-laden roofs have collapsed.

Three hikers are missing on 14,161-foot Mt. Shasta which, residents say, has had the heaviest snow in more than 20 years.

The Smith River in the far northwest rose at a rate of a foot an hour. Although the situation remained less than critical, the disaster-hardened people of Crescent City, Calif., took precautions.

Other rivers receded during the lull before the new storm.

This storm, as well as the one before it, originated in Alaska. It was expected to drop heavy rains from Oregon to Ukiah, Calif., 110 miles north of San Francisco.

Another and potentially more dangerous storm spun off from Hawaii and headed toward the mainland.

Torrential rains from Hawaiian storms and melted mountain snow killed 23 and did $1 billion in damage in Christmas week of 1964.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco said "the flooding pressure on the rivers of central California should ease while those of the extreme north should increase."

Forecaster W. E. Brenkman said an added hazard was snowmelt.

Rain and snow fell on Dunsmuir, a town of around 3,700 located in mountains 270 miles north of San Francisco. It has been declared a disaster area. Two days of snow storms followed by rain snapped power lines, darkening the community. Five roofs collapsed under rain-soaked snow. Lights began to come on again Wednesday night in some areas.

The three days of rain dumped 16.7 inches on the northwest corner of California.

For the third straight day, the Southern Pacific canceled its Cascade passenger train between San Francisco and Portland, Ore.

New Storm Slams Into California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Another storm slammed into northwestern California today in a region where 1,000 persons already have left their homes, many roads have been closed and snow-laden roofs have collapsed.

Three hikers are missing on 14,161-foot Mt. Shasta which, residents say, has had the heaviest snow in more than 20 years.

The Smith River in the far northwest rose at a rate of a foot an hour. Although the situation remained less than critical, the disaster-hardened people of Crescent City, Calif., took precautions.

Other rivers receded during the lull before the new storm.

This storm, as well as the one before it, originated in Alaska. It was expected to drop heavy rains from Oregon to Ukiah, Calif., 110 miles north of San Francisco.

Another and potentially more dangerous storm spun off from Hawaii and headed toward the mainland.

Torrential rains from Hawaiian storms and melted mountain snow killed 23 and did $1 billion in damage in Christmas week of 1964.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in San Francisco said "the flooding pressure on the rivers of central California should ease while those of the extreme north should increase."

Forecaster W. E. Brenkman said an added hazard was snowmelt.

Rain and snow fell on Dunsmuir, a town of around 3,700 located in mountains 270 miles north of San Francisco. It has been declared a disaster area. Two days of snow storms followed by rain snapped power lines, darkening the community. Five roofs collapsed under rain-soaked snow. Lights began to come on again Wednesday night in some areas.

The three days of rain dumped 16.7 inches on the northwest corner of California.

For the third straight day, the Southern Pacific canceled its Cascade passenger train between San Francisco and Portland, Ore.

Elected By Shrine

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Syria Shrine has elected John S. McCans, a Donora businessman, as illustrious potentate of the Syria Temple. McCans was elected at the annual meeting Wednesday.

At Western Reserve, he was a member of the Law Review and vice president of the Delta Theta Pi legal fraternity.

He is married and has three children. He and his wife, Margaret, and family are in the process of relocating in Wellsville. He is a member of Wellsville American Legion Post 70.

Vacant Dwelling Leveled By Fire

Fire destroyed an unoccupied one-story four - room house at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday at Kendall, Pa.

The South Side fire department answered a call to the house, which is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Wakefield of Dresden Ave. here.

Assistant Fire Chief Willis Swearingen said that by the time the department reached the scene the blaze was out of control.

The department battled the blaze for an hour and 15 minutes.

Vote On Clerk Post Clarified By Lawton

Councilman George Lawton of Wellsville, a Democrat, said today he did not vote in favor of re-electing Wayne J. Rose, a Republican, to the council clerk's post during a Council meeting Tuesday night.

Lawton also said he voted against giving a unanimous vote to Rose after the clerk was selected by secret ballot during a caucus session.

Bomb Output At Halt Early In Air Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of 750-pound bombs was at a halt during the first six or seven months of the U.S. air war in Viet Nam, it was disclosed today.

Manufacture of these "iron bombs," stopped after the Korean War, wasn't resumed until late last summer, the Defense Department said. This was about a half year after the first U.S. air strike into North Viet Nam.

Apparently the bomb stockpile was fast being eaten up by almost daily B52 raids over South Viet Nam and air attacks by U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers against Communist targets in both North and South Viet Nam. A mission of 30 B52s, fully loaded, carries more than a million pounds of bombs.

U.S. officials have insisted there is no shortage of bombs or other ammunition.

Knowledgeable sources say there were times during the past month of strike operations when the 750-pound bomb supply was tight. "We sweated a little," said one source.

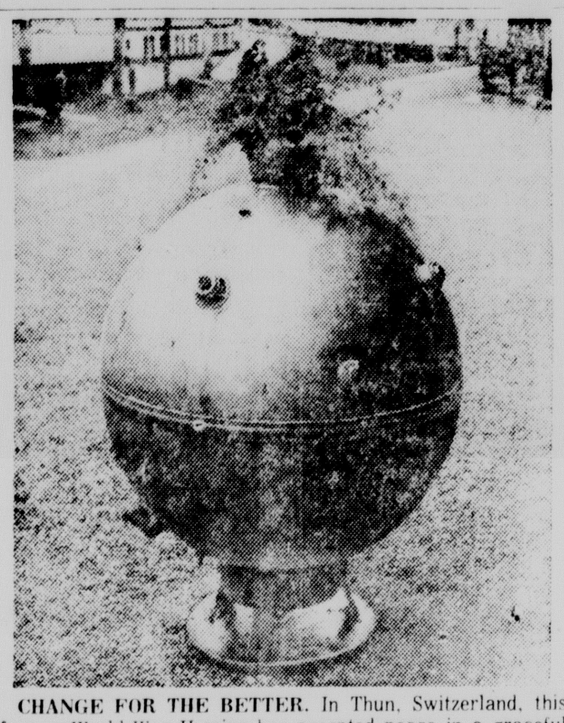

No missions were scrubbed because of a lack of bombs and the supply situation has been improving, sources said.

Asked about the bomb production situation, the Pentagon also said that manufacture of 500-pound bombs was stopped in the fall of 1963 "when inventory requirements for the general purpose forces were reached."

Output of 500-pounders was started again in March 1965, about a month after American warplanes began hitting North Viet Nam.

This means there was a production break of more than a year in this class of bomb.

The 750-pounders and the 500-pounders have been the major types of bombs dumped on the Communists by Air Force and Navy planes, although 1,000-pound and 2,000-pound bombs also have been dropped.

involved in getting themselves renominated."

Discussing the 1965 General Assembly session which ended Tuesday, the governor accused the Democrats of playing politics throughout but said he was pleased that most of the administration's program was enacted.

"This has been a conscientious session," the governor said.

The House stopped the clock several times and kept the 1965 session going 4½ hours longer than the Senate, passing some 39 pieces of legislation that were dead automatically.

"It was a charade, not a responsible legislative body at work," the governor said.

During the 12-month meeting, he added, the "Democrats kept arguing about politics."

"In the meantime, good bills and programs floundered in the House. That's why they took so long. And in fact some good legislation never got the consideration it rightfully deserved. But eventualy most of our program, with some unfortunate exceptions, was enacted."

Among the disappointments, he said, were the "minimum headway on modernizing the constitution, the roadside beautification program, and lack of agreement regarding mine subsidence."

He also attacked failure of the Democrats to approve additional state policemen, saying:

17 Firemen Receive Oath

Oaths of office were administered 17 firemen attending the initial meeting of the new year of the Liverpool Township east volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

John Borsos, president, administered the oaths.

Committee chairmen are Ken Ketchum, social and planning; Parker, sick and flowers; Adams, ways and means; John Laitsch, recreation and entertainment, and Guy Looman, equipment.

Plans are being made for a dinner observing the 10th anniversary of the founding of the township department. Members of the east and west departments and their wives will attend.

Operation of the tanker will be explained by officers at the Jan. 19 session.

The east department answered three calls in December, it was reported.

He refused to say what offers had been made by the opposing sides. "That was desired by both parties," he said. Previously, the unions had demanded $216 million in higher wages and benefits and the Transit Authority had offered a $29-million package.

Lindsay said he had no idea whether Michael J. Quill, head of the TWU, had been consulted during the day by the union's second-line negotiators.

Quill collapsed at the civil jail Tuesday shortly after he and eight other union officials were arrested for refusing to end the strike. State Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller had found them guilty of contempt for calling out the workers in defiance of a court injunction.

Quill was reported resting well at Bellevue Hospital.

Output of 500-pounders was started again in March 1965, about a month after American warplanes began hitting North Viet Nam.

This means there was a production break of more than a year in this class of bomb.

The 750-pounders and the 500-pounders have been the major types of bombs dumped on the Communists by Air Force and Navy planes, although 1,000-pound and 2,000-pound bombs also have been dropped.

involved in getting themselves renominated."

Discussing the 1965 General Assembly session which ended Tuesday, the governor accused the Democrats of playing politics throughout but said he was pleased that most of the administration's program was enacted.

"This has been a conscientious session," the governor said.

The House stopped the clock several times and kept the 1965 session going 4½ hours longer than the Senate, passing some 39 pieces of legislation that were dead automatically.

"It was a charade, not a responsible legislative body at work," the governor said.

During the 12-month meeting, he added, the "Democrats kept arguing about politics."

"In the meantime, good bills and programs floundered in the House. That's why they took so long. And in fact some good legislation never got the consideration it rightfully deserved. But eventualy most of our program, with some unfortunate exceptions, was enacted."

Among the disappointments, he said, were the "minimum headway on modernizing the constitution, the roadside beautification program, and lack of agreement regarding mine subsidence."

He also attacked failure of the Democrats to approve additional state policemen, saying:

17 Firemen Receive Oath

Oaths of office were administered 17 firemen attending the initial meeting of the new year of the Liverpool Township east volunteer fire department Wednesday night at the Dixonville station.

John Borsos, president, administered the oaths.

Committee chairmen are Ken Ketchum, social and planning; Parker, sick and flowers; Adams, ways and means; John Laitsch, recreation and entertainment, and Guy Looman, equipment.

Plans are being made for a dinner observing the 10th anniversary of the founding of the township department. Members of the east and west departments and their wives will attend.

Operation of the tanker will be explained by officers at the Jan. 19 session.

The east department answered three calls in December, it was reported.

He refused to say what offers had been made by the opposing sides. "That was desired by both parties," he said. Previously, the unions had demanded $216 million in higher wages and benefits and the Transit Authority had offered a $29-million package.

Lindsay said he had no idea whether Michael J. Quill, head of the TWU, had been consulted during the day by the union's second-line negotiators.

Quill collapsed at the civil jail Tuesday shortly after he and eight other union officials were arrested for refusing to end the strike. State Supreme Court Justice Abraham N. Geller had found them guilty of contempt for calling out the workers in defiance of a court injunction.

Post Obtains Flag For Viet Nam Soldier

The purchase of a West Virginia state flag to be sent to a Newell man who is commanding a unit in Viet Nam was approved during the meeting of American Legion Post 114 Wednesday night at the post home.

The flag will be sent to Lt. Col. John F. Geer, commanding officer of a dental detachment 200 miles north of Saigon. It will be a gift from the post honoring West Virginia boys serving in the area.

Lt. Col. Geer requested the flag in a letter to Tony LaNeve, adjutant.

Hillman H. May of Newell was accepted as a new member.

Edward Hupp reported on the annual Christmas parade and tree project and announced seven Newell organizations had contributed financial aid.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Gals: I wonder how many women automatically buy the "large economy size" of soap, etc., without doing a little mental arithmetic to see if it really is economical!

Some times, when you figure out how much a certain item costs per ounce, you may discover that two of the smaller containers may cost less than one large one.

As an example, I usually buy salad dressing by the quart but the last time I needed some I checked the price, then picked up a pint jar of the same brand from the same shelf and found that I would save 6 cents by buying two pints . . . instead of one quart!

The same example applies to one and two pound cans of coffee! And again on the same shelf in the same store. . . .

However, if you DO get more for your money by purchasing the larger ones, just put the contents into smaller, easier to handle containers.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I buy much longer shades than necessary for my kitchen windows, and when the bottoms become soiled I just cut off the soiled portion and sew in a new hem.

MRS. W.B.

DEAR HELOISE: For people who knit, I have found a wonderful use for the new style coffee cans with the plastic tops.

After I empty and wash the tin, I cut a hole, about the size of a dime, in the plastic top.

I put my yarn in the can, pull the end of the yarn up through the hole and replace the plastic top. There is no tangling, and the yarn stays clean.

Cover the can with a piece of adhesive-backed paper, and you have a very pretty and handy yarn holder.

DEAR HELOISE: That hint about placing a heel from a loaf of bread on top of cabbage, broccoli, etc., to keep the odor down while cooking is wonderful.

To keep the bread from falling apart, I made a pocket for it of nylon net, fastening the open side with a toothpick.

This enables me to take the bread out in one piece, after the vegetables are done.

ALMA CONNOR.

DEAR HELOISE: To prolong the life of linens, don't ever hang them on the line by the corners.

When hanging small hand and dish towels, lap them over the line at least three inches from the ends; bath towels six inches, and sheets six or eight inches, etc.

DEAR HELOISE: To make a burned pot easier to clean, I sprinkle baking soda in the bottom of the pan, add vinegar, and let it stand for about 20 minutes!

Then it cleans like a charm.

DEAR HELOISE: Plastic mattress protectors can and do slide now and then when they completely cover the mattress.

Place an old piece of rubber sheeting (I used the kind covered on both sides with flannel), or any old blanket, between the mattress and springs.

Goal Of $700 Set At Newell In Dimes Plea

Special activities have been scheduled and personnel have been named to conduct Newell's annual campaign for the March of Dimes, Tony LaNeve, community director, announced.

A goal of $700 has been set by LaNeve, who pointed out past accomplishments have given the world the weapons to triumph over polio. "Before us is the specter of uncounted millions who are or will be disfigured or crippled by birth defects or arthritis."

LaNeve named Mrs. Sadye Nalley and Mrs. Catherine Hutton co-chairmen for the mothers' march and a roadblock, both scheduled later this month.

Mrs. Jean Martin will head special activities; Larry M. Rush, clubs and restaurants; J. Carl Durham, business and industry, and Donald DeLong, special contributions.

Letters soliciting contributions are being mailed to Newell businessmen, clubs and organizations, LaNeve, who has headed the campaign since 1962, said.

Kosygin Confers Again With Shastri And Ayub

Kosygin met with Ayub before seeing Shastri. The two Asian leaders were tentatively scheduled to meet later. But their meeting apparently hinged on their individual talks with their Soviet host.

The Indian and Pakistani leaders were still deadlocked over Kashmir, the Himalayan state that both claim. The issue has brought war between them twice since 1947.

Shastri was reported holding firmly to India's view that Kashmir is an integral part of India and not a subject for negotiations.

Ayub was said to be unmoved from Pakistan's claim that the Kashmir dispute is the root of the conflict with India and must be solved first. Ayub wants to hold a plebiscite in Kashmir, whose population is predominantly Moslem, like Pakistan's.

Official spokesmen acknowledged the two leaders failed Wednesday even to agree on a formal agenda for their negotiations. They said they have not gotten down to detailed discussion of any major problems although the summit conference is now in its third day.

Pakistan's Information Minister Altaf Gauhar told newsmen the meetings were "essentially in the nature of preparing ground for hard discussions."

C.S. Jha, India's foreign secretary, said "the wheels are moving" but "perhaps not too fast."

'Rare Good Year' Seen In Livestock Business

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The president of the American National Cattlemen's Association predicted here today a "rare good year" for livestock business in 1966.

Brooks J. Keogh of Keene, N.D., a rancher who heads the association, spoke at a session of the Ohio Cattle Feeders annual convention. The Ohio association is the newest among the 39 state groups affiliated with the national organization.

Said Keene:

"Except for scattered years since World War II, we've operated the beef cattle business under the handicap that our output has been a bit too abundant for profit for feeders and ranchers alike. Now we are learning to coordinate our efforts to provide the consumer with adequate supplies at prices which are reasonable to all."

Cow slaughter during 1965, he said, was unusually heavy and the industry can except "significant" reductions in the "factory" for producing new calves to finish for market.

The speaker complimented Ohio feeders for marketing animals in recent months at more desirable weights while calf producers across the nation culled cow herds to bring the total production more nearly in line with the needs of the consumer.

Willis Asks Possible New Laws To Curb KKK Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, has suggested possible new laws to curb the power of the Ku Klux Klan.

Willis said at Wednesday's Klan hearing that possible approaches include a requirement that Klansmen register with the government as Communists are supposed to do; a federal law forbidding masked gatherings; or a federal law against organized acts or threats of violence.

Willis invited Ralph Blumberg, a former radio station owner in Bogalusa, La., to suggest possible legislation. Blumberg said he had no suggestions, however.

The witness told of being hounded and boycotted by the Bogalusa Klan, his and his family's lives threatened, car windows smashed and the radio station fired at by high-powered rifles.

His crime in the Klan's eyes, Blumberg said, was being on a local community relations committee which invited a former congressman and Baptist lay leader, Brooks Hays of Arkansas, to speak in Bogalusa on "better community relations."

Because of Klan pressure, Blumberg said, the meeting had to be canceled. He lost all but one of his sponsors, and eventually had to sell the station and move away.

"Unfortunately the Klan has won its battle in Bogalusa," Blumberg said. "They control, or influence deeply, all the communications media. There is no freedom of speech or freedom of assembly in Bogalusa today."

Johnson

felt a five-day pause in May hadn't lasted long enough.

Johnson sent his advisers back to Washington with instructions to weigh carefully the pros and cons. No decision was reached at the time.

The President, recuperating from his Oct. 8 surgery, gave the matter much personal thought in the weeks that followed.

Then, on Dec. 7, Johnson convened another meeting of key advisers at his home place in Texas to go into the question further. This session was attended by Rusk, McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Bundy, presidential assistants Bill D. Moyers and Joseph A. Califano Jr., and Robert Komer, a Bundy deputy. McNamara was just back from Saigon.

Even after this conference, Johnson was not committed to a bombing pause or its possible timing. Consideration was given to action early in 1966 — possibly to coincide with the Vietnamese New Year's holiday on Jan. 21.

The President was committed, however, to a broadened search for peace. And two days later, in a telephone address to the AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco, he said he was "determined that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken" in Viet Nam.

Johnson returned to Washington Dec. 13 for a series of meetings with foreign visitors: President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan, Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany.

Even as these international meetings progressed, Johnson was preoccupied with potential peace moves in Viet Nam. Sandwiched among his conferences with the visitors were meetings with top advisers, including two secret sessions with the National Security Council.

Out of these talks grew a decision — subject to ratification by the Saigon government — to propose a 30 - hour Christmas cease-fire. The Viet Cong's political arm had called earlier, on Dec. 7, for a 12-hour truce.

On Dec. 22, with Johnson back at the ranch, military officials in Saigon ordered the cease-fire. As part of this holiday package, American planes were to halt their bombing runs over North Viet Nam targets.

Even at this point, Johnson was not certain of his next move. Much would depend on immediate developments. For example, he knew that if the cease-fire ended in some incident like the Viet Cong bombing months earlier of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, full warfare would have to be resumed. And the President wanted a chance to gauge American reaction to the Christmas lull before committing himself further.

One opportunity for a quick move toward peace evaporated when the Viet Cong repeatedly ignored the 30-hour cease-fire, nullifying a Johnson decision that fighting would not be resumed even after Christmas unless the other side fired first.

For two days after Christmas, Johnson made day-to-day decisions against resuming the bombing of North Viet Nam, although ground fighting was back in full swing.

Ultimately, on the night of Dec. 27, the President made up his mind that — if events permitted — he had the perfect opportunity to prolong the bombing lull. It was in keeping with the Christmas spirit and might advance the effort he had pledged anew in toasting Erhard at a White House dinner a week earlier: "We will push on every door for peace."

Pope Paul VI and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield may have influenced his decision. Both had called for a fighting lull extending well beyond Christmas.

Up to this point, Johnson had tried to stay very much in the background — a silent man who insisted that such questions as holiday lulls were matters to be decided in Saigon.

In these opening stages, the peace offensive was not tied directly to the White House — lest something go wrong and Johnson feel compelled to pull back.

On Dec. 28, Johnson made the first moves to expand his peace efforts manyfold and, ultimately, to bring them into the open.

At noon, Johnson put through a telephone call to U.N. Ambassador Goldberg, sunning himself on a beach in the Bahamas. The President ordered him to fly to the Vatican for a meeting with Pope Paul. A presidential jet flew Goldberg back to New York that night and, after a stopover that included a session with U.N. Secretary- General U Thant, the envoy was bound for Rome.

Roving Ambassador Harriman, a durable 74 with 20 years of cold war diplomacy behind him, got a Johnson call at about the same time: fly to Warsaw, Poland, for talks with the leaders of that Communist country which, along with Canada and India, is represented on the International Control Commission responsible for overseeing the 1954 Geneva "settlement" of the Viet Nam problem. Harriman had to duck out on a bridge game to make the flight.

Soon others were catching planes for distant places: Bundy for Canada; Undersecretary of State Thomas C. Mann for Mexico; Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams for Africa.

The Far Eastern good-will mission of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, scheduled earlier, was expanded to encompass talk of Viet Nam with leaders in Japan, the Philippines, Nationalist China and South Korea. The U.S. ambassador in Moscow, Foy Kohler, paid an unusually long "courtesy call" on Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Johnson's "peace doves" already have visited or scheduled stops in two dozen countries. More are being added and the envoys apparently will be circulating for at least another week.

Everywhere they are emphasizing what Humphrey called the American "peace basket proposals" — 14 items adding up to an administration view that virtually any difficulty in Viet Nam is negotiable, if only Hanoi will start talking.

The response from North Viet Nam, as reflected in public statements, has been distinctly negative. Epithets like "peace trick" are heard every few days.

Neither can anyone here judge now the result of the visit to Hanoi by Alexander Shelepin, a top Soviet Communist party official. Shelepin may join the growing chorus of those calling for peace — or he may offer new aid for the North Vietnamese war effort.

Red Party Seen Generating Opposition To U.S. Viet Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today the Communist party has played an ever-increasing role in generating opposition to the U. S. position in Viet Nam.

Hoover said also that the party is trying to attract more youth and is making plans to take a more active part in the 1966 elections, running candidates wherever possible.

In his annual report to the attorney general on FBI activities during 1965, Hoover said:

"Always eager to engage in any activity which will bring embarrassment to the United States, the party has played an ever-increasing role in generating opposition to the United States position in Viet Nam.

"In September 1965, party headquarters sent a directive to all districts giving instructions on slogans to be used in protests against United States action in Viet Nam. In addition, the party has expended large sums of money in propaganda efforts designed to hinder United States progress toward peace."

Hoover said the Communist party and other subversive groups supported and participated in various protests against U. S. policy. This was particularly true, he said, in the April 17 student march on Washington, the August Washington summer action project, the October international days of protest, the Nov. 27 march on Washington for peace in Viet Nam and the Nov. 25-28 national antiwar convention in Washington.

Hoover also reported:

—Nearly 14,000 fugitives were located and 21,000 automobiles recovered in FBI-investigated cases — both new highs.

Chief Gives Reminder On New City Licenses

Police Chief A. J. Radeschi today reminded junk yard operators and private refuse and garbage haulers that they must obtain new city licenses or permits in order to continue operations legally in 1966.

Although the permits were required as of Jan. 1, the police department always allows a few days' grace before citing any operator for non-compliance, the chief said.

However, nearly a week has passed since the start of the new year and some persons required to have the permits have not obtained them, Radeschi said. He warned that the licenses should be obtained "as promptly as possible" at the office of Mayor George Willshaw to avoid possible prosecution.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)— An 18-year-old Ohio youth, Haverford College freshman Jeremiah T. Dickinson, awaits sentence on a guilty plea to charges of failing to register for the military draft.

Dickinson, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, told Judge John W. Lord Jr. he wrote the draft board in Xenia, Ohio, Oct. 6 that he would not register "for personal reasons" and said he realized he faced a possible five-year prison term. The judge freed Dickinson on $500 bail and ordered a presentence report.

Domer's Plea Of Insanity Is Withdrawn

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Robert K. Domer's plea of innocent by reason of insanity has been withdrawn for his retrial on a first-degree murder charge, but his innocent plea stands.

Attorneys for the 47-year-old former Canton mortgage investment broker said Wednesday they dropped the insanity plea because they were unable to prove insanity in the first trial and because they do not want Domer to appear mentally incompetent.

Only two jurors, both women, were seated after 18 prospective jurors were questioned Wednesday on the first day of the new trial.

Domer, charged with the slaying of Howard F. Riddle, a 54-year-old Akron fruit peddler, was convicted by a three-judge panel on Nov. 29, 1963, and sentenced to death in the electric chair.

He appealed the conviction on grounds the prosecution took statements without his having benefit of council and was granted a new trial by the courts of appeals.

Riddle's charred body was found in Domer's burning automobile in a field near the Wayne-Stark County line on April 23, 1963.

Domer admitted at his first trial that he started the fire, but said he panicked after Riddle died in a motel room they shared.

Red Party Seen Generating Opposition To U.S. Viet Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today the Communist party has played an ever-increasing role in generating opposition to the U. S. position in Viet Nam.

Hoover said also that the party is trying to attract more youth and is making plans to take a more active part in the 1966 elections, running candidates wherever possible.

In his annual report to the attorney general on FBI activities during 1965, Hoover said:

"Always eager to engage in any activity which will bring embarrassment to the United States, the party has played an ever-increasing role in generating opposition to the United States position in Viet Nam.

"In September 1965, party headquarters sent a directive to all districts giving instructions on slogans to be used in protests against United States action in Viet Nam. In addition, the party has expended large sums of money in propaganda efforts designed to hinder United States progress toward peace."

Hoover said the Communist party and other subversive groups supported and participated in various protests against U. S. policy. This was particularly true, he said, in the April 17 student march on Washington, the August Washington summer action project, the October international days of protest, the Nov. 27 march on Washington for peace in Viet Nam and the Nov. 25-28 national antiwar convention in Washington.

Hoover also reported:

—The FBI files now contain more than 177 million sets of fingerprints.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 8-year-old son is left-handed. My wife is trying to change him over. She insists it is an unnecessary handicap for a person to go through life left-handed and that it's all a matter of breaking the habit.

Last night my wife strapped Jack's left hand to his side with a belt and made him feed himself with his right hand. He dropped most of his food on the table cloth and the floor and his younger sister laughed at him. He got so mad he cried. We had a fuss at the table and I finally told my wife in plain language to leave the boy alone.

My wife says if we don't keep at the boy and make him do things right-handed, he will have a problem all of his life. What do you know about this subject?—BATTLE WEARY.

Dear Weary: I know of some mothers whose left-handed sons did just fine. To name a few, there's Mrs. Koufax's son, Sandy; Mrs. Ruth's son, Babe; Mrs. Da Vinci's son, Leonardo, and Mrs. Mauldin's son, Bill. Insist that your wife leave the boy alone before she makes a nervous wreck of him.

Prying Wife

Dear Ann: Please print my letter for the woman who signed herself "Nothing Withheld." She felt that her husband owed it to her to spell out every detail about his relationship with the woman he went with before they married.

I was the same way. I nagged all the intimate details out of my husband and now I'm so miserable I don't know what to do. Whenever he whispers some little love phrase in my ear I wonder if he said the same things to her. When he holds me in his arms I can't help but think that he is such a wonderful lover because he has had so much practice.

The ghost of my husband's former sweetheart haunts me. Now I wish I had kept my nose out of his past and not been so inquisitive. Please tell all girls who want to pump a man for information of this kind that they are better off not knowing. —IGNORANCE IS BLISS.

Dear Ig: I did tell 'em but you told 'em even better. A testimonial from one who has been there is always much more effective. Thanks for giving me a grand assist.

Sensible Solution

Dear Ann: Recently I married a widower with three children. We are very happy. His three children (college age) have had some bitter arguments among themselves as to who gets waht pieces of furniture and the personal possessions of their mother. (She died two years ago.)

The most fought-over item is a beautiful diamond wedding ring which their mother had reset just before she died. All the children want it.

I'm writing to ask what you think should be done with the ring. My husband and I are not flush with money and he feels that it would be sensible to sell the ring and put the money to some good use.

He is afraid, however, that his children may feel that he is not paying their mother the proper respect. He says they are quite sentimental. What do you say? —SIDELINES.

Dear Sidelines: These kids sound as sentimental as a collection of water moccasins.

If there were only one child I would say the ring should be given to the child, but since there are several, and "they all want it," the best solution is the one your husband has suggested. So long as the suggestion is his and not yours, the kids have no right to criticize.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Annual Police Report Lists 801 Crashes

East Liverpool police investigated 801 traffic accidents during 1965 in which 176 persons were injured, it was shown today in the department's annual report.

The report also showed three pedestrians were killed in traffic and 27 others were injured.

The data was issued by Chief A. J. Radeschi, based on monthly summaries and a cumulative total compiled by Capt. Robert B. Pyle. The data will be used in furnishing yearly reports for several state and federal agencies, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation for its annual uniform crime report of the nation, the chief explained.

The report shows police received 41 reports on missing persons and 40 on stolen cars. A breakdown of various crimes showed 227 burglaries, 238 cases of vandalism and 217 instances of theft.

The department handled 7,412 radio transmissions and made 927 arrests, including 40 persons charged with driving while intoxicated and three accused of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

December topped all months in the number of traffic mishaps, with 84. The totals by other months were: January and February, 68 each; March, 80; April, 51; May, 74; June, 57; July, 59; August, 74; September, 53; October, 68, and November, 65.

The injury accidents ranged from a low of three in March to a high of 22 in August.

The number of radio transmissions ranged from 447 in February to 744 in July, averaging about 600 per month.

Nothing Serious, Doctor Says

J. P. Kennedy's Heart Stopped Second Or Two

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's heart stopped beating for a second or two Wednesday, but his doctor says there is nothing serious about it.

"There was a brief loss of consciousness, but there are no after effects," said Dr. Saul Rotter. "He'll resume his normal activities."

A male nurse carried him inside. Ann Gargan, longtime Kennedy companion, called the doctor and a priest.

Msgr. Jeremiah P. O'Mahoney administered final rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Kennedy recovered from the heart block under oxygen and the doctor decided there was no need to hospitalize him.

Members of the family telephoned from around the country. His wife, Rose, said it was not serious enough for them to gather at Palm Beach.

"Heart blocks are not uncommon among older people with a history of heart trouble," said Dr. Rotter. They are only dangerous if prolonged, he said.

Kennedy watched television, ate a normal supper and went to bed at 8 p.m.

He has been recovering slowly but surely from the stroke here Dec. 19, 1961, that left his speech and mobility impaired.

He is able to carry on a limited conversation but he is unable to move without help. He told some of the few old friends who visit him at his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass., that he wished the recovery were more rapid.

Kennedy, ambssador to Great Britain from January 1937 to late in 1940, came here several weeks ago for the winter. He swims regularly as part of a rehabilitative program.

County Unit Meets

Deadline Set For Filling Poverty Program Posts

The Columbiana County Community Action Committee, which will administer "War On Poverty" programs in the county, today announced that applications for the post of program director and four other positions will be received until Jan. 13.

The committee, headed by Fred Simmen of Oakmont, said a program director, clerk-bookkeeper, secretary-typist and two survey aides will be employed.

It was pointed out, however, that funds for the initial survey operation are provided only for six months, although it is expected additional funds will be available once the programs get under way.

Furthermore, there are special requirements which must be met by those employed, spelled out in the standards set by the Office of Economic Opportunity and by the county committee.

Five applications for the program director post and applications for other positions were reviewed during a meeting of the committee Tuesday night at Lisbon.

Any other applications are to be submitted to the Ohio State Employment Service offices at East Liverpool and Salem. Those who have filed applications with the committee need not refile with the OSES, Simmen said.

Applicants for the program director post must have a bachelor degree in humanities or the equivalent in experience (4 years) in related fields. The applicant also must have a background of training and experience in working with persons of limited resources.

Other requirements are "a desire to assist others in solving problems, ability to stimulate others' efforts and personal qualities and moral standards required of professional persons."

The post has a salary of $750 a month.

The clerk-bookkeeper job pays $400 a month, and calls for experience and capability in such work.

The secretary-typist position, which offers a salary of $280 a month, is to be filled from someone in the lower income group, as are the two survey aide posts, which are part time positions which pay $150 a month.

The staff will conduct a general survey of poverty needs in the county, establish an office and procedures to compile data and prepare to administer various Economic Opportunity programs throughout the county.

Willard P. Dudley, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation said in a report that 123 projects for 6,087 persons received federal approval. The six-month period ended Dec. 31, 1965.

The cost of those projects already approved will be almost $12.2 million, Dudley said, a total representing almost 100 per cent of Ohio's original appropriation for the fiscal year under the federal legislation.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 8-year-old son is left-handed. My wife is trying to change him over. She insists it is an unnecessary handicap for a person to go through life left-handed and that it's all a matter of breaking the habit.

Last night my wife strapped Jack's left hand to his side with a belt and made him feed himself with his right hand. He dropped most of his food on the table cloth and the floor and his younger sister laughed at him. He got so mad he cried. We had a fuss at the table and I finally told my wife in plain language to leave the boy alone.

My wife says if we don't keep at the boy and make him do things right-handed, he will have a problem all of his life. What do you know about this subject?—BATTLE WEARY.

Dear Weary: I know of some mothers whose left-handed sons did just fine. To name a few, there's Mrs. Koufax's son, Sandy; Mrs. Ruth's son, Babe; Mrs. Da Vinci's son, Leonardo, and Mrs. Mauldin's son, Bill. Insist that your wife leave the boy alone before she makes a nervous wreck of him.

Prying Wife

Dear Ann: Please print my letter for the woman who signed herself "Nothing Withheld." She felt that her husband owed it to her to spell out every detail about his relationship with the woman he went with before they married.

I was the same way. I nagged all the intimate details out of my husband and now I'm so miserable I don't know what to do. Whenever he whispers some little love phrase in my ear I wonder if he said the same things to her. When he holds me in his arms I can't help but think that he is such a wonderful lover because he has had so much practice.

The ghost of my husband's former sweetheart haunts me. Now I wish I had kept my nose out of his past and not been so inquisitive. Please tell all girls who want to pump a man for information of this kind that they are better off not knowing. —IGNORANCE IS BLISS.

Dear Ig: I did tell 'em but you told 'em even better. A testimonial from one who has been there is always much more effective. Thanks for giving me a grand assist.

Sensible Solution

Dear Ann: Recently I married a widower with three children. We are very happy. His three children (college age) have had some bitter arguments among themselves as to who gets waht pieces of furniture and the personal possessions of their mother. (She died two years ago.)

The most fought-over item is a beautiful diamond wedding ring which their mother had reset just before she died. All the children want it.

I'm writing to ask what you think should be done with the ring. My husband and I are not flush with money and he feels that it would be sensible to sell the ring and put the money to some good use.

He is afraid, however, that his children may feel that he is not paying their mother the proper respect. He says they are quite sentimental. What do you say? —SIDELINES.

Dear Sidelines: These kids sound as sentimental as a collection of water moccasins.

If there were only one child I would say the ring should be given to the child, but since there are several, and "they all want it," the best solution is the one your husband has suggested. So long as the suggestion is his and not yours, the kids have no right to criticize.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Annual Police Report Lists 801 Crashes

East Liverpool police investigated 801 traffic accidents during 1965 in which 176 persons were injured, it was shown today in the department's annual report.

The report also showed three pedestrians were killed in traffic and 27 others were injured.

The data was issued by Chief A. J. Radeschi, based on monthly summaries and a cumulative total compiled by Capt. Robert B. Pyle. The data will be used in furnishing yearly reports for several state and federal agencies, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation for its annual uniform crime report of the nation, the chief explained.

The report shows police received 41 reports on missing persons and 40 on stolen cars. A breakdown of various crimes showed 227 burglaries, 238 cases of vandalism and 217 instances of theft.

The department handled 7,412 radio transmissions and made 927 arrests, including 40 persons charged with driving while intoxicated and three accused of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

December topped all months in the number of traffic mishaps, with 84. The totals by other months were: January and February, 68 each; March, 80; April, 51; May, 74; June, 57; July, 59; August, 74; September, 53; October, 68, and November, 65.

The injury accidents ranged from a low of three in March to a high of 22 in August.

The number of radio transmissions ranged from 447 in February to 744 in July, averaging about 600 per month.

Capt. Pyle compiles the figures monthly and then combines the totals for the annual summary.

Nothing Serious, Doctor Says

J. P. Kennedy's Heart Stopped Second Or Two

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's heart stopped beating for a second or two Wednesday, but his doctor says there is nothing serious about it.

"There was a brief loss of consciousness, but there are no after effects," said Dr. Saul Rotter. "He'll resume his normal activities."

A male nurse carried him inside. Ann Gargan, longtime Kennedy companion, called the doctor and a priest.

Msgr. Jeremiah P. O'Mahoney administered final rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Kennedy recovered from the heart block under oxygen and the doctor decided there was no need to hospitalize him.

Members of the family telephoned from around the country. His wife, Rose, said it was not serious enough for them to gather at Palm Beach.

"Heart blocks are not uncommon among older people with a history of heart trouble," said Dr. Rotter. They are only dangerous if prolonged, he said.

Kennedy watched television, ate a normal supper and went to bed at 8 p.m.

He has been recovering slowly but surely from the stroke here Dec. 19, 1961, that left his speech and mobility impaired.

He is able to carry on a limited conversation but he is unable to move without help. He told some of the few old friends who visit him at his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass., that he wished the recovery were more rapid.

Kennedy, ambssador to Great Britain from January 1937 to late in 1940, came here several weeks ago for the winter. He swims regularly as part of a rehabilitative program.

Deadline Set For Filling Poverty Program Posts

The Columbiana County Community Action Committee, which will administer "War On Poverty" programs in the county, today announced that applications for the post of program director and four other positions will be received until Jan. 13.

The committee, headed by Fred Simmen of Oakmont, said a program director, clerk-bookkeeper, secretary-typist and two survey aides will be employed.

It was pointed out, however, that funds for the initial survey operation are provided only for six months, although it is expected additional funds will be available once the programs get under way.

Furthermore, there are special requirements which must be met by those employed, spelled out in the standards set by the Office of Economic Opportunity and by the county committee.

Five applications for the program director post and applications for other positions were reviewed during a meeting of the committee Tuesday night at Lisbon.

Any other applications are to be submitted to the Ohio State Employment Service offices at East Liverpool and Salem. Those who have filed applications with the committee need not refile with the OSES, Simmen said.

Applicants for the program director post must have a bachelor degree in humanities or the equivalent in experience (4 years) in related fields. The applicant also must have a background of training and experience in working with persons of limited resources.

Other requirements are "a desire to assist others in solving problems, ability to stimulate others' efforts and personal qualities and moral standards required of professional persons."

The post has a salary of $750 a month.

The clerk-bookkeeper job pays $400 a month, and calls for experience and capability in such work.

The secretary-typist position, which offers a salary of $280 a month, is to be filled from someone in the lower income group, as are the two survey aide posts, which are part time positions which pay $150 a month.

The staff will conduct a general survey of poverty needs in the county, establish an office and procedures to compile data and prepare to administer various Economic Opportunity programs throughout the county.

Parents Troubled By New Math System

Many parents of young school children are worried about the new math their children are taught. When these parents try to help their children they are confused or distraught. The new math has a new language they are unfamliiar with. A few parents learn this new language from their children. A few others learn it from the teacher. Most teachers advise the parents not to try to understand this new way but to leave it all to the school.

Dr. Garry Myers

When parents do find out what it's all about they discover it is like an old doll dressed up in new clothes, only the parts of these clothes have new names.

—:—

FOR EXAMPLE, a group or collection of objects is called a set. The symbol that stands for a number is called a numeral. Numerals name the number of members in a set. You must join sets, not add them.

Never use "and," use "plus". There are several ways to name the members in a set.

At your newsstand or supermarket you may find one or more booklets which explain the new math for children in the primary grades. When you see and learn about the ways in which young children are taught the new math you may wonder why there is all this talk in new words about what you always had known, and what you may believe your youngster has known.

IT MAY seem a bit dull to you and boring, with so much repetition. However, many teachers of new math may tell you it is not dull to children.

What may puzzle you most with the booklets or workbooks meant to be put into the hands of children is that the directions the children are supposed to read and follow presuppose that they must be far along in reading. You may feel sure that your child who can read this is far more advanced in number concepts than what he is supposed to read about.

Indeed, he may have practiced long before going to school, even when untaught, in putting objects together into sets which he may have called bunches or groups, and in putting together members of smaller groups or sets and finding they made a larger group or set.

You may have seen a youngster three or four adding, subtracting, even dividing, in his own way.

NO MATTER what you may think about the new math with your children, it's here. Its use has spread like an unchecked epidemic throughout the nation. So you might as well be practical and try to learn about it and master its new language.

Meanwhile, if your child in the third, fourth, or higher grade still counts as he adds or subtracts you can help him at home by getting him to memorize the 100 basic addition combinations like 8 plus 7 equals 15, and the 100 basic subtraction combinations, two or three an evening. This learning will be useful to him all his lifetime.

My bulletin, "Home Helps in Arithmetic," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Youth Blamed For Slaying 2 Arrested

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP) — The youth suspected of a double killing in Coshocton County returned Wednesday to his old New England haunts—where he was wanted in three other murder cases—and was arrested in a restaurant.

It developed that Richard Edward Steeves, 23, charged here with first-degree murder in the fatal stabbing - beating Monday of Francis Gephart, 35, and Gephart's father, 84, also had been charged with murder at Rochester, N. H.

Picked up at Manchester, N. H., Steeves also told authorities he was wanted in two slayings in Maine. Maine Atty. Gen. Richard DuBord said in each of the New England slayings the victims were elderly men who lived alone.

Harry Staples was slain in North Berwick, Maine, last June; Loranzo Troyer in Augusta, Maine, last August, and William Mace, 70, in Rochester, N.H., in June.

Steeves was turned over to Rochester police on a warrant charging him with the fatal beating of Mace.

Meanwhile, Coshocton County Prosecutor James W. Freeman and Sheriff William Hoop Jr., after filing charges in the nearby West Lafayette slayings, headed for New England. They intended to begin proceedings for the return of Steeves, alias Gene Michaud, to Ohio.

Negro Given Cabinet Post In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Ralph S. Locher has picked a Negro for his cabinet with the appointment of Clarence L. Ganes as welfare director.

Making the appointment Wednesday, the mayor also indicated that a program will be launched to deal with problems in the Negro community.

He ordered heads of all city departments to study the McCone Commission report on the Watts rioting in Los Angeles last summer.

Gaines, the only Negro in the mayor's cabinet, said cabinet members would discuss the report at a future session "and we will determine what should be done here."

Gaines, an attorney and city councilman, said the mayor agreed to his condition that the Office of Job Retraining be made part of the Welfare Department.

"I want to work job retraining into the welfare program to make the old concept of welfare unnecessary," he said.

More jobs for Negroes will be a major concern in Mayor Locher's program, the new welfare director indicated.

Poet Sandburg Marks 88th Birthday In Bed

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (AP) — Carl Sandburg, the poet and Lincoln biographer, marks his 88th birthday today in a sickbed. His wife thinks he'll get well and live to be 101.

"He'll pull himself out of this," said Mrs. Sandburg in an interview. "There's nothing that has ever defeated Carl. It's been a great life he's had because he knows how to make the best of things."

Mrs. Sandburg said her husband has not completely recovered from an intestinal inflammation which started in September. He was also shaken by a fall recently.

For years, Sandburg has predicted he would die at an age divisible by 11.

"It's inevitable, it's inexorable, it's written in the book of fate," the poet told a newsmen when he turned 80. "I had two great-grandfathers and a grandfather who died in years divisible by 11. If I don't die at 88, I'll go on to 99."

But Sandburg's 82 - year - old wife, who married him 57 years ago, takes no stock in the prophesy.

"I really think he'll live to be 101," she said. "He really has to do something different, you know.

"He still drinks goat's milk. That's why he's lived so long, but I wouldn't say that's what made him a poet.

"Nobody can tell what made Carl the way he is," she said. "It must have been just the way he was born. His father couldn't even write his name.

"And now Carl's work is going all over the world. Both his poems and his Lincoln biography have been translated into many languages."

There will be no birthday news conference at Sandburg's mountainside home as in bygone years. He will not lift a heavy oak armchair over his head to show reporters he is in good condition.

"Oh, he used to do that armchair business until recently," Mrs. Sandburg said. "Then when they'd ask him to do it, he'd just say it was too much trouble to go out on the porch and get the chair."

Poet Sandburg Marks 88th Birthday In Bed

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (AP) — Carl Sandburg, the poet and Lincoln biographer, marks his 88th birthday today in a sickbed. His wife thinks he'll get well and live to be 101.

"He'll pull himself out of this," said Mrs. Sandburg in an interview. "There's nothing that has ever defeated Carl. It's been a great life he's had because he knows how to make the best of things."

Mrs. Sandburg said her husband has not completely recovered from an intestinal inflammation which started in September. He was also shaken by a fall recently.

For years, Sandburg has predicted he would die at an age divisible by 11.

"It's inevitable, it's inexorable, it's written in the book of fate," the poet told a newsmen when he turned 80. "I had two great-grandfathers and a grandfather who died in years divisible by 11. If I don't die at 88, I'll go on to 99."

But Sandburg's 82 - year - old wife, who married him 57 years ago, takes no stock in the prophesy.

"I really think he'll live to be 101," she said. "He really has to do something different, you know.

"He still drinks goat's milk. That's why he's lived so long, but I wouldn't say that's what made him a poet.

"Nobody can tell what made Carl the way he is," she said. "It must have been just the way he was born. His father couldn't even write his name.

"And now Carl's work is going all over the world. Both his poems and his Lincoln biography have been translated into many languages."

There will be no birthday news conference at Sandburg's mountainside home as in bygone years. He will not lift a heavy oak armchair over his head to show reporters he is in good condition.

"Oh, he used to do that armchair business until recently," Mrs. Sandburg said. "Then when they'd ask him to do it, he'd just say it was too much trouble to go out on the porch and get the chair."

Temple's Brookins Joins List Of 'Hot' Sophomores

Foul Tosses Give Owls 57-56 Win

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ron Williams of West Virginia, Nick Pino of Kansas State, Dave Newmark of Columbia, Mike Warren of UCLA, Rusty Critchfield of California and Don Mays of Dayton are some of the sophomores who have come to the fore in college basketball this season.

Clarence Brookins of Temple joined the list Wednesday night. The 19-year-old 6-foot-3 Owl scored only eight points, but he calmly sank two free throws in the last 21 seconds for a 57-56 victory over Villanova.

Just six seconds before Joe Crews had put the Wildcats ahead 56-55 with two free throws in the battle of the Philadelphia city rivals at the Palestra. Unfortunately Crews fouled Brookins and the Temple soph won the game.

It was Temple's 11th victory in 12 games after the Owls' 10-game winning streak had been shattered by St. Joseph's Hawks in the final of the Quaker City Holiday Classic.

All of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll had an open date on a slim national program that saw many close finishes similar to the Temple-Villanova cliff-hanger.

South Carolina, the only team to defeat top-ranked Duke this season, lost the ball on an out-of-bounds play with 17 seconds left at Columbia, S.C., then lost the game to North Carolina State 55-54 on Tommy Mattocks' jump shot from close in with eight seconds on the clock.

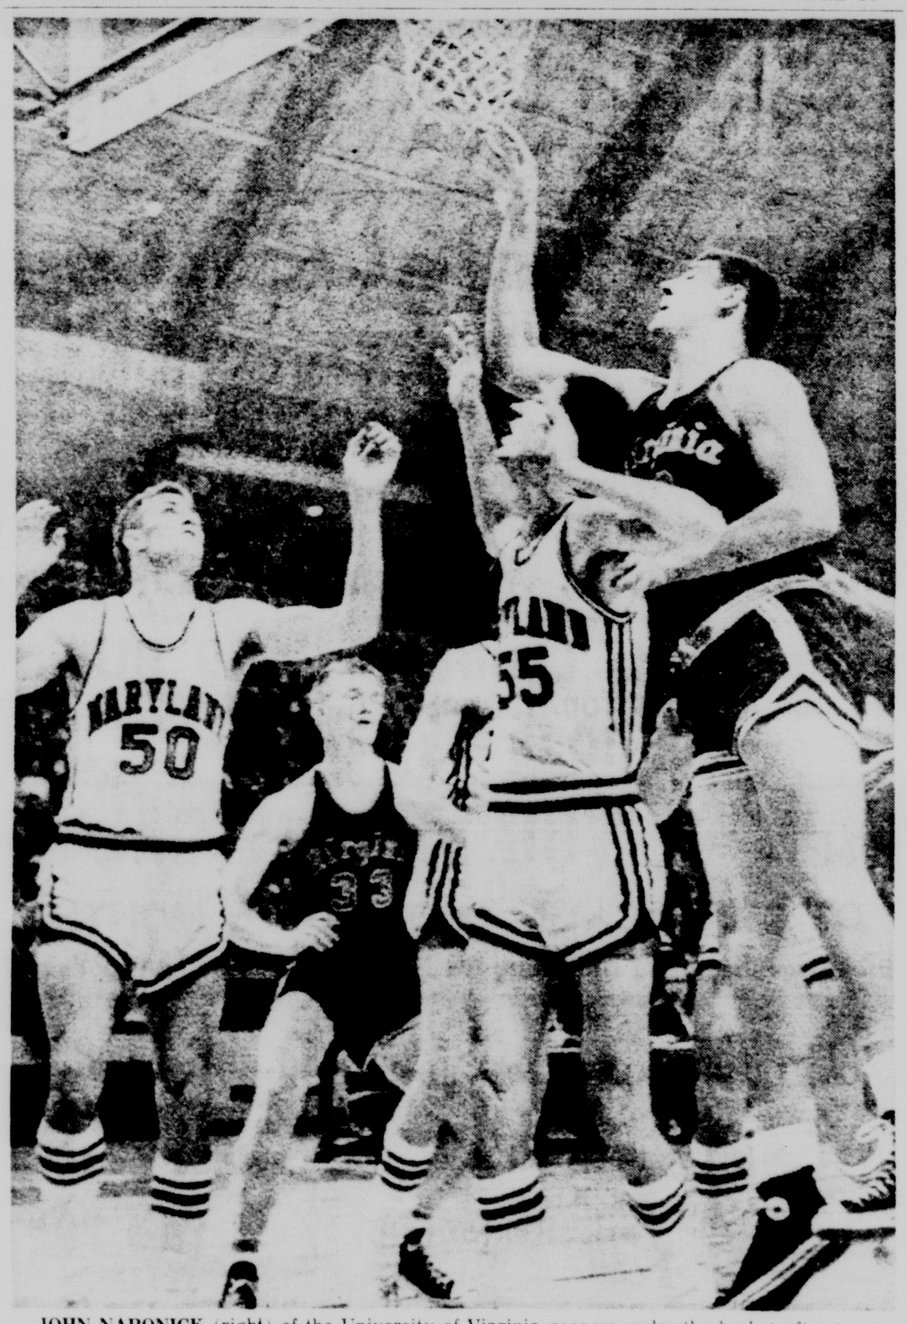

Connecticut also was beaten on its home court when Keith Hochstein's free throw with four seconds on the clock gave Holy Cross a 73-72 victory. Virginia overcame Maryland's home court advantage at College Park, Md., edging the Terps 65-62. Jerry Sanders' layup with one minute to go gave the Cavaliers a four-point lead and sewed up the triumph.

The Chicago Loyola Ramblers also paid no attention to the generally recognized home court advantage. They rolled over Marquette 87-65 at Milwaukee for their 11th victory in 12 starts. Billy Smith and Corky Bell combined for 39 points and 25 rebounds to lead the Ramblers.

Creighton also fell on its home court at Omaha, absorbing an 81-78 defeat from Bellarmine on seven free throws by Jim Schurfranz and Bill Popp in the last minute. North Carolina also won on the road, 99-83, over Wake Forest.

Billy Casper Favored In LA's Open

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) The 40th annual Los Angeles Open, with a purse of $70,000, was slated to get under way today and the more foolhardy were busy predicting the winner when the last putt drops in Sunday.

Bill Casper Jr. seemed to be in the consensus choice, which is as good as the next guess. Slimmed-down Bill has all the talents and has something else going for him—the fact that he has never won the Los Angeles Open.

Or it could be Paul Harney, the long-hitting club pro from Worcester, Mass., who has merely won the last two opens here.

Harney retired from the PGA tournament wars three years ago but still manages to keep a sharp game.

Two of the more consistent best bets in a golf match, Masters Champion Jack Nicklaus and U.S. Open king Gary Player, are not here. Player remains home in South Africa and Nicklaus won't join the touring pros until the Bing Crosby shindig later this month.

Play is at the 7,131-yard, par 36-35—71 Rancho golf course, a municipal layout which for 51 weeks of the year takes a beating from the usual hackers and often at L.A. Open time shows it.

Recent rains, however, have enriched the rough, so possibly the pros may find the place a little more interesting than in some years.

Rodgers' last round was a record 32-30—62 which included nine birdies and nine pars and a tournament record total of 268.

Palmer hopes to swing out of a long slump. He won this event in 1963 after several disappointing attempts and now has captured but one first place—at Las Vegas' Tournament of Champions last spring—in 18 months.

In pro - amateur competition Wednesday, Palmer's 4-under-par 67 was lowest individual score to bring him $500. He collected another $325 when he and his amateur partners had a best ball score of 58.

George Bayer and his partners won the pro-amateur with a 57. Bayer, who had an individual 73, won $400.

LAKER JERRY WEST (44) runs up against the long arms of Boston Celtics' Bill Russell in the first period of the NBA game Wednesday night at Los Angeles. Russell reaches over West's shoulder as he drives in and bats the ball out of his grasp, but drew a foul on the play. Looking on is John Havlicek of the Celtics. (UPI Telephoto)

TV's Attacked On Boxing

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Television has been accused of turning small boxing clubs into TV studios and eventually killing off most of them.

But a Newark station has reversed the trend and made its main studio into a once-a-week amateur fight arena that is reviving interest in the sport.

"It's proved something I've always suspected — boxing is not dead," says Fred Sayles, program director of WNJU-TV, an ultrahigh - frequency outlet which reaches the entire New York metropolitan area.

"Professional boxing got itself into such a bind that nobody fought any more. We see more action in one good six-minute three - rounder than the last four heavyweight championship bouts combined. There's just no talent around any more.

"Our telecasts have changed the whole tenor and tone of amateur boxing. Neighborhoods are developing local heroes with local followings."

WNJU-TV airs a 1½ - hour card every Tuesday night with a minimum of seven three-round bouts. The series is sanctioned by the State AAU and the State Athletic Commission and has been on for almost two months.

"I think it's safe to say we reach more than 100,000 homes every week," Sayles says. "And the number is growing rapidly. We know that from the way the ticket requests have increased. If I could accommodate all the people who write and phone I'd have to mail out more than 1,000 tickets.

"Our problem is keeping them out. Many people show up without tickets. We hate to turn them away but we simply don't have room for all of them."

WNJU's studio, a former ballroom, holds only 250-300 spectators and the only similarity to a boxing club is the ring. A light blue curtain serves as a backdrop, there's no smoking, no vendors hawking beer or other refreshments and no admission charge.

Drawings Set For Section 1 Tourney Play

Drawings have been announced for the annual AAA basketball tournament in March of West Virginia Section 1, Region 1, at the Weir Senior High School fieldhouse.

The first game, March 2 at 7:30 p.m., will match Oak Glen and Wellsburg and the second, March 3 at 7:30 p.m., Weirton and Follansbee.

The winners of the first two games will class in the finals on March 5 at 8 p.m., with the victor representing Section 1 in Region 1 play.

The schedule was outlined during a meeting of principals and coaches from the participating schools. Dominic Amedeo will serve as tournament director.

Amedeo said admission will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students, with student tickets available at each school and at the gate.

Adult tickets will be sold at the gate only for the game scheduled that night.

Unbeaten Fairmont Pressed By West Liberty, 54-To-41

The Hilltoppers kept down Fairmont's usually high scoring duo of Bill Moody and Dave Miller. Miller, who had 33 points in the Alderson-Broaddus game, managed just 13. Moody had 16.

The Falcons are now 8-0 in the conference and 11-1 over-all. West Liberty is 2-3 in the conference and 6-5 over-all.

In non - conference contests, West Virginia State fell to Central State of Ohio 100-68, and Wheeling dumped Frostburg, Md., 102-80.

Wheeling jumped to an early lead and was never headed. Lou Turkaly had 21 points to lead the Cardinals. High man in the game was Frostburg's Jim Willis with 33 points.

Central State moved to a 90 early in the game and made it 51-38 by halftime. Tom Shivell led the West Virginians' scoring with 17 points.

Forearm, Hand Pads Are Urged For Football Use

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Legalization of forearm and hand pads in football was urged Wednesday by a safety committee of the National Alliance of High School Athletic Associations.

The pads should be used regardless of whether a player is injured, the committee said.

It also recommended:

—That games involving students below the ninth-grade level by played in eight-minute quarters.

Oak Glen And Bridgeport Tie In Wrestling Match

A victory by Dennis Anderson in the heavyweight competition —the final match of the night— enabled the Oak Glen High School wrestling team to deadlock Bridgeport 20-20 Wednesday at the Oak Glen fieldhouse.

Anderson decisioned Shutek 5-1 to tie the match and bring Oak Glen's record for the season to 1-2-1.

The Hancock County wrestlers will journey down - river Saturday for a match against Parkersburg at 1 p.m.

105 pounds — Jack Everly, Oak Glen, decisioned Callarik, Bridgeport, 6-5.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Third baseman Bob Bailey has become the second player to sign a 1966 contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Conn's Voted Into Boxing's Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Conn, who gave up the light-heavyweight championship to make two unsuccesstul tries for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, has been voted into Boxing's Hall of Fame.

Four other boxers also were elected in a worldwide vote of sports writers and sportscasters conducted by Ring Magazine.

The other four were old-timers Jake Kilrain, Johnny Coulon, Young Corbett II and Owen Moran. They brought the total in the hall to 87.

Conn captured the light-heavy title in 1939, beating Melio Bettina and Gus Lesnevich in elimination bouts. He then relinquished the crown to campaign as a heavyweight, getting his first shot at Louis in 1941.

Conn lost but built a solid lead on points until the 13th round when he was stopped. Five years later, after both had served in the military, they met again and Louis knocked Conn out in the eighth round.

CHARLESTON (AP) — Joseph P. Condry, a Charleston attorney, has been reelected chairman of the three-man West Virginia Racing Commission. He has been chairman of the commission for two years.

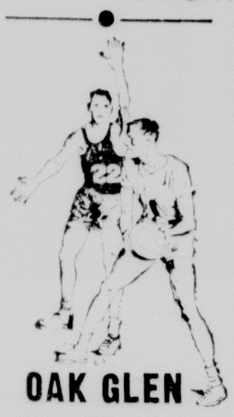

Mets Send Kroll To Houston Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets asked waivers today on right-handed pitcher Gary Kroll and sent him to the Houston Astros' Oklahoma City farm club in the Pacific Coast League for cash and a minor league player to be named later.

Kroll, who was 6-6 with the Mets in 1965, was optioned to the Mets' Buffalo affiliate in the International League but he did not report. Instead he went to Provo, Utah, and said he was quitting baseball to resume his education.

Kroll, 24, has since talked to Houston officials and changed his mind, a Mets spokesman said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) The 40th annual Los Angeles Open, with a purse of $70,000, was slated to get under way today and the more foolhardy were busy predicting the winner when the last putt drops in Sunday.

Bill Casper Jr. seemed to be in the consensus choice, which is as good as the next guess. Slimmed-down Bill has all the talents and has something else going for him—the fact that he has never won the Los Angeles Open.

Or it could be Paul Harney, the long-hitting club pro from Worcester, Mass., who has merely won the last two opens here.

Harney retired from the PGA tournament wars three years ago but still manages to keep a sharp game.

Two of the more consistent best bets in a golf match, Masters Champion Jack Nicklaus and U.S. Open king Gary Player, are not here. Player remains home in South Africa and Nicklaus won't join the touring pros until the Bing Crosby shindig later this month.

Play is at the 7,131-yard, par 36-35—71 Rancho golf course, a municipal layout which for 51 weeks of the year takes a beating from the usual hackers and often at L.A. Open time shows it.

Recent rains, however, have enriched the rough, so possibly the pros may find the place a little more interesting than in some years.

Rodgers' last round was a record 32-30—62 which included nine birdies and nine pars and a tournament record total of 268.

Palmer hopes to swing out of a long slump. He won this event in 1963 after several disappointing attempts and now has captured but one first place —at Las Vegas' Tournament of Champions last spring—in 18 months.

In pro - amateur competition Wednesday, Palmer's 4-under-par 67 was lowest individual score to bring him $500. He collected another $325 when he and his amateur partners had a best ball score of 58.

George Bayer and his partners won the pro-amateur with a 57. Bayer, who had an individual 73, won $400.

Conn's Voted Into Boxing's Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Conn, who gave up the light-heavyweight championship to make two unsuccessful tries for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, has been voted into Boxing's Hall of Fame.

Four other boxers also were elected in a worldwide vote of sports writers and sportscasters conducted by Ring Magazine.

The other four were old-timers Jake Kilrain, Johnny Coulon, Young Corbett II and Owen Moran. They brought the total in the hall to 87.

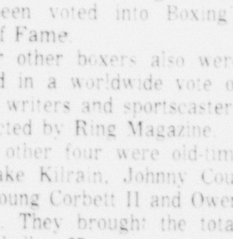

Conn captured the light-heavy title in 1939, beating Melio Bettina and Gus Lesnevich in elimination bouts. He then relinquished the crown to campaign as a heavyweight, getting his first shot at Louis in 1941.

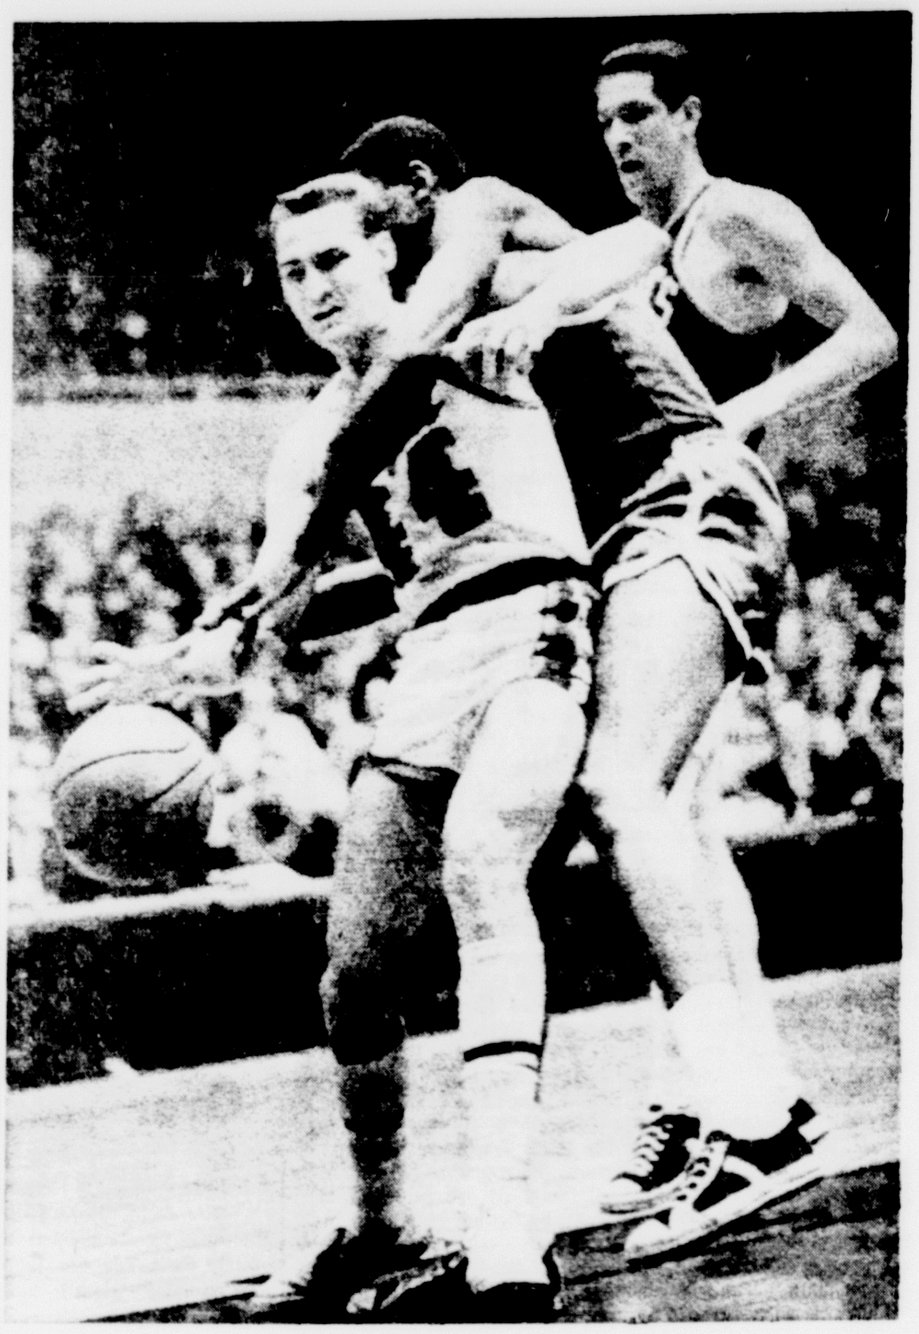

Conn lost but built a solid lead on points until the 13th round when he was stopped. Five years later, after both had served in the military, they met again and Louis knocked Conn out in the eighth round.

Drawings Set For Section 1 Tourney Play

Drawings have been announced for the annual AAA basketball tournament in March of West Virginia Section 1, Region 1, at the Weir Senior High School fieldhouse.

The first game, March 2 at 7:30 p.m., will match Oak Glen and Wellsburg and the second, March 3 at 7:30 p.m., Weirton and Follansbee.

The winners of the first two games will class in the finals on March 5 at 8 p.m., with the victor representing Section 1 in Region 1 play.

The schedule was outlined during a meeting of principals and coaches from the participating schools. Dominic Amedeo will serve as tournament director.

Amedeo said admission will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students, with student tickets available at each school and at the gate.

Adult tickets will be sold at the gate only for the game scheduled that night.

Mets Send Kroll To Houston Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets asked waivers today on right-handed pitcher Gary Kroll and sent him to the Houston Astros' Oklahoma City farm club in the Pacific Coast League for cash and a minor league player to be named later.

Kroll, who was 6-6 with the Mets in 1965, was optioned to the Mets' Buffalo affiliate in the International League but he did not report. Instead he went to Provo, Utah, and said he was quitting baseball to resume his education.

Kroll, 24, has since talked to Houston officials and changed his mind, a Mets spokesman said.

Unbeaten Fairmont Pressed By West Liberty, 54-To-41

The Hilltoppers kept down Fairmont's usually high scoring duo of Bill Moody and Dave Miller. Miller, who had 33 points in the Alderson-Broaddus game, managed just 13. Moody had 16.

The Falcons are now 8-0 in the conference and 11-1 over-all. West Liberty is 2-3 in the conference and 6-5 over-all.

In non - conference contests, West Virginia State fell to Central State of Ohio 100-68, and Wheeling dumped Frostburg, Md., 102-80.

Wheeling jumped to an early lead and was never headed. Lou Turkaly had 21 points to lead the Cardinals. High man in the game was Frostburg's Jim Willis with 33 points.

Central State moved to a 90 early in the game and made it 51-38 by halftime. Tom Shivell led the West Virginians' scoring with 17 points.

Forearm, Hand Pads Are Urged For Football Use

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Legalization of forearm and hand pads in football was urged Wednesday by a safety committee of the National Alliance of High School Athletic Associations.

The pads should be used regardless of whether a player is injured, the committee said.

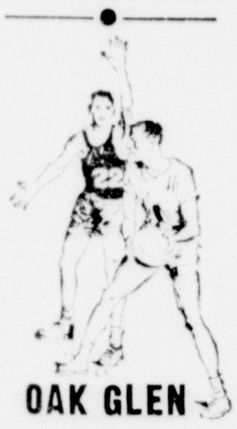

It also recommended:

—That games involving students below the ninth-grade level by played in eight-minute quarters.

By The Associated Press

One Mid-American Conference defending co - champion won, the other lost, and Youngstown needed a timer's error to remain unbeaten and lead a flock of small college Ohio basketball powers in Wednesday night victories.

Features of a 12-game Buckeye collegiate card were 1966 Mid - Am openers in which Miami won at Kent State 67-58 while Ohio University lost at Western Michigan 86-80 and Toledo scored at home 85-66 over Bowling Green.

Youngstown (9-0) nipped Alliance (Pa.) 65-59 in overtime after the timer at Cambridge Springs, Pa., forgot to start the clock with five seconds left and the Penguins down 59 - 57. Youngstown's Joe Nigro worked his way upcourt and sank a 40-footer—with the clock still showing five seconds when it possibly would have expired. Youngstown then blanked the Eagles in the extra session.

Central State (9-1), Otterbein (8-1), Wooster (8-2), Steubenville (8-2), Findlay (8-2), Bluffton (7-2) and Defiance (5-2) all won.

The Marauders downed West Virginia State 100-68 as Ken Wilburn scored 27 points; the Cardinals edged Ohio Northern 86-81 behind Don Carlos' 33, the Scots made it five of six in the Ohio Conference by beating Capital 68-60.

The Barons outscored Walsh 19-3 in the closing minutes and won 86-66; the Oilers edged Tri-State (Ind.) 73-71 on Jerry Carder's last-second jump shot; the Beavers trounced St. Francis (Ind.) 114-93 as Alex Clark and Lynn Martin bagged 26 each, and the Yellow Jackets staved off a Heidelberg rally to prevail 76-75.

Miami's Redskins spotted Kent a 13-2 bulge but Phil Snow made eight of nine from the field the first half to pull the Oxford crew ahead 31-29 at intermission. Miami quickly made it 41-31 and stayed in command, finishing with 22 points by Snow and a team shooting percentage of .526.

Western Michigan, with injured high scorer Reggie Lacefield back in action, fought Ohio U. a seesaw struggle then finally broke out of a 61-61 tie and was never headed. The game's top scorer was Ken Fowlkes with 23, but Lacefield and Phil White led a balanced Bronco point column with 19 apiece.

Toledo ripped in 21 of 35 field shots in the first half in dealing Bowling Green its eighth loss in 10 starts over-all. The Rockets' Big Three—Jim Cox, Bob Aston and Bill Backenst — all clocked and Don White joined the act with 17 points. Cox stood out with 24 points, 17 rebounds and several nifty assists.

Celtics Lose With Russell Acting Coach

By The Associated Press

Before Wednesday night's game Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics considered coaching "for the birds." His sentiments on the subject may be even stronger today.

The Celtics lost to the Los Angeles Lakers 120-113, snapping a string of five straight victories Russell had run up as temporary coach of the National Basketball Association team.

As in the past Russell was at the Boston controls in the absence of Coach Red Auerbach. Auerbach did not accompany the team to Los Angeles because of the serious illness of his father.

"I don't have the temperament for it. I get too tough on the player-Bill Russell. He's nothing — that Bill Russell — when he plays for me."

Against the Lakers, player Russell contributed only 11 points to the Celtic attack which was led by Sam Jones with 23. Jerry West scored 29 and Walt Hazzard 25 for the Lakers.

In other league action, San Francisco edged New York 118-117 and Baltimore downed St. Louis 114-101 in a doubleheader at Baltimore, Md., and Cincinnati defeated Detroit 117-103 at Dayton, Ohio.

Adrian Smith's career high of 35 points led Cincinnati to its third straight victory as the Royals handed the Pistons their third straight loss. The Royals' Oscar Robertson added 28 points 13 assists and 13 rebounds. Ray Scott topped Detroit with 26 points.

WVU Meets NLU, Duquesne Faces Iona In Garden Play

Iona meets Duquesne in the opener.

NYU went into last week's holiday festival with six victories and seven defeats. But the Violets fell short with a late rally agains Providence in the first game, and they blew a 15-point lead in the late minutes against Georgetown for another loss.

Countering Williams for NYU will be Mal Graham, the nation's third leading scorer. Graham, 6-foot-1, has averaged 30.3 points a game, a mark bettered only by Dave Schellhase of Purdue and Bob Lewis of North Carolina.

Senior Bowl Players Hope Skies Clear

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Football players in Mobile for Saturday's 17th annual Senior Bowl hoped today for clearing skies to permit the first good practice day since they arrived last Monday.

Two-a-day practices were scheduled. Both Weeb Ewbank, coaching the South team, and North Coach Mike Holovak indicated they may drill twice Friday also since steady rain has sharply cut into practice.

Injured Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan threw the ball for the first time in Wednesday's work. But Texas A&I's Randy Johnson will probably open at quarterback.

Sloan's status is not definite, but even if he is able to play, Johnson apparently will have an edge. Johnson has had the advantage of working with Rebel receivers all week.

Lakers' Owner Will Rent Arena

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Lakers' owner Jack Kent Cooke says he is renting the Los Angeles Sports Arena for another two years.

"As far as I'm concerned, the contract is signed," the National Basketball Association team owner said Wednesday.

He scotched reports that he was considering building a new home for the Lakers or moving them outdoors, to nearby Dodger Stadium.

"It's news to me," Cooke said, laughing off a suggestion he had not planned to renew the present contract.

Cooke said he had promised members of the Coliseum Commission, a county agency which operates the Sports Arena, that he would sign the contract before it expires Jan. 15.

Hull Heading For New NHL Goal Record

By The Associated Press

Bobby Hull, Chicago's blond bombshell, appears headed for a one-season National Hockey League goal-scoring record and he could establish a point scoring mark while he's at it.

Hull, with his 30th and 31st goals of the season sparking Chicago's 4-2 victory over Montreal in the only NHL game Wednesday night, holds an 11-point lead over the Canadiens' Bobby Rousseau with 51 points.

His two targets are the 50-goal one-season record he shares with Montreal's Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion and the 96-point scoring championship mark set by Canadiens' Dick Moore in 1958-59.

Chicago has 38 games to play, and barring injury, Hull would seem to have a strong shot at both marks. If he gets them it could play a major role in Chicago's first regular season title.

Wednesday's victory put the Hawks three points ahead of the runner-up Canadiens although Montreal has played one less game.

'Block That Kick' Not Corny Yell To Cowboys

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Block that kick!" is more than a corny yell to the Dallas Cowboys, who meet the Baltimore Colts here Sunday in the National Football League's Playoff Bowl.

It's an exhortation that the Cowboys take seriously. As a result, they are the kick-block-ingest team in professional football.

"It's not the result of any special preparation or plan," says Tom Landry, the Dallas coach. "We just had some success early in the year and it became a game — a sort of challenge — to the boys.

They have blocked nine. That's almost a third of the total blocked by all the teams of the NFL — 29 — and three times as many as any other team.

Blocked field goals set up Dallas scores in four games and resulted directly in victory in three — the 39-31 win over San Francisco at Dallas, the 21-19 victory over the Eagles at Philadelphia and the 38-20 final game decision over the New York Giants that sent the Cowboys into the Playoff Bowl.

They are the Big Four. Logan and Gaechter each blocked two field goals during the recent campaign, Green and Pugh one each.

The group also figured in the blocking of five extra-point attempts and one punt, making 15 blocked kicks in all.

"The Colts are ar offensive-minded team," he said. "Unfortunately, they lost Johnny Unitas, but Tom Matte is now making them go again and we expect to see a lot of passes to Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr."

The Colts, beaten out in overtime in a playoff with Green Bay for the Western Conference title, are slight favorites over a Dallas team that won its first two games, lost five in a row and then rallied to win five of its last seven.

Troy Man, 26, Is Indicted On Numerous Counts

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Two counts each of kidnaping, shooting to kill, shooting to wound and assault with a deadly weapon, and one each of rape, abduction for immoral purposes, attempted robbery, assault to commit robbery, and car theft —that's the indictment against Delbert Ward Browning, 26, of Troy.

A Miami County grand jury returned Wednesday the 13-count true bill under which the Troy ex-convict will be prosecuted in the attack Dec. 18 on two Christiansburg, Champaign County, teen-agers.

Marcella Rutt, 18, who had been critically wounded, was released from the hospital Sunday, while Jerry Morehead, 19, is still hospitalized but has improved to good condition.

The couple were accosted when they stopped for pizza at a shopping center here, were forced to drive into the country and both were shot in the abdomen and dumped at separate rural spots.

Browning is in county jail, arrested several days after the crime on the strength of identification initially based on a composite drawing.

Ohio Man Celebrates His 105th Birthday

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—"Devonshire people just live longer," is what Theophilus May had to say on his 105th birthday.

The old native Englishman, who carried mail in Cleveland for 33 years, is a bit hard of hearing, but said casually Wednesday at his birthday party that he is looking forward to Jan. 5, 1967.

May, who is living with his grandson, Charles Mills, said he has outlived his 13 brothers and sisters—but all of them lived until their 70s and 80s.

Youngstown Still Undefeated

By The Associated Press

One Mid-American Conference defending co - champion won, the other lost, and Youngstown needed a timer's error to remain unbeaten and lead a flock of small college Ohio basketball powers in Wednesday night victories.

Features of a 12-game Buckeye collegiate card were 1966 Mid - Am openers in which Miami won at Kent State 67-58 while Ohio University lost at Western Michigan 86-80 and Toledo scored at home 85-66 over Bowling Green.

Youngstown (9-0) nipped Alliance (Pa.) 65-59 in overtime after the timer at Cambridge Springs, Pa., forgot to start the clock with five seconds left and the Penguins down 59 - 57. Youngstown's Joe Nigro worked his way upcourt and sank a 40-footer—with the clock still showing five seconds when it possibly would have expired. Youngstown then blanked the Eagles in the extra session.

Central State (9-1), Otterbein (8-1), Wooster (8-2), Steubenville (8-2), Findlay (8-2), Bluffton (7-2) and Defiance (5-2) all won.

The Marauders downed West Virginia State 100-68 as Ken Wilburn scored 27 points; the Cardinals edged Ohio Northern 86-81 behind Don Carlos' 33, the Scots made it five of six in the Ohio Conference by beating Capital 68-60.

The Barons outscored Walsh 19-3 in the closing minutes and won 86-66; the Oilers edged Tri-State (Ind.) 73-71 on Jerry Carder's last-second jump shot; the Beavers trounced St. Francis (Ind.) 114-93 as Alex Clark and Lynn Martin bagged 26 each, and the Yellow Jackets staved off a Heidelberg rally to prevail 76-75.

Miami's Redskins spotted Kent a 13-2 bulge but Phil Snow made eight of nine from the field the first half to pull the Oxford crew ahead 31-29 at intermission. Miami quickly made it 41-31 and stayed in command, finishing with 22 points by Snow and a team shooting percentage of .526.

Western Michigan, with injured high scorer Reggie Lacefield back in action, fought Ohio U. a seesaw struggle then finally broke out of a 61-61 tie and was never headed. The game's top scorer was Ken Fowlkes with 23, but Lacefield and Phil White led a balanced Bronco point column with 19 apiece.

Toledo ripped in 21 of 35 field shots in the first half in dealing Bowling Green its eighth loss in 10 starts over-all. The Rockets' Big Three—Jim Cox, Bob Aston and Bill Backenst — all clocked and Don White joined the act with 17 points. Cox stood out with 24 points, 17 rebounds and several nifty assists.

Celtics Lose With Russell Acting Coach

By The Associated Press

Before Wednesday night's game Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics considered coaching "for the birds." His sentiments on the subject may be even stronger today.

The Celtics lost to the Los Angeles Lakers 120-113, snapping a string of five straight victories Russell had run up as temporary coach of the National Basketball Association team.

As in the past Russell was at the Boston controls in the absence of Coach Red Auerbach. Auerbach did not accompany the team to Los Angeles because of the serious illness of his father.

Before leaving for the West Coast, Russell had this to say about coaching:

"I don't have the temperament for it. I get too tough on the player-Bill Russell. He's nothing — that Bill Russell — when he plays for me."

Against the Lakers, player Russell contributed only 11 points to the Celtic attack which was led by Sam Jones with 23. Jerry West scored 29 and Walt Hazzard 25 for the Lakers.

In other league action, San Francisco edged New York 118-117 and Baltimore downed St. Louis 114-101 in a doubleheader at Baltimore, Md., and Cincinnati defeated Detroit 117-103 at Dayton, Ohio.

Adrian Smith's career high of 35 points led Cincinnati to its third straight victory as the Royals handed the Pistons their third straight loss. The Royals' Oscar Robertson added 28 points 13 assists and 13 rebounds. Ray Scott topped Detroit with 26 points.

Iona meets Duquesne in the opener.

NYU went into last week's holiday festival with six victories and seven defeats. But the Violets fell short with a late rally agains Providence in the first game, and they blew a 15-point lead in the late minutes against Georgetown for another loss.

Countering Williams for NYU will be Mal Graham, the nation's third leading scorer. Graham, 6-foot-1, has averaged 30.3 points a game, a mark bettered only by Dave Schellhase of Purdue and Bob Lewis of North Carolina.

Senior Bowl Players Hope Skies Clear

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Football players in Mobile for Saturday's 17th annual Senior Bowl hoped today for clearing skies to permit the first good practice day since they arrived last Monday.

Two-a-day practices were scheduled. Both Weeb Ewbank, coaching the South team, and North Coach Mike Holovak indicated they may drill twice Friday also since steady rain has sharply cut into practice.

Injured Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan threw the ball for the first time in Wednesday's work. But Texas A&I's Randy Johnson will probably open at quarterback.

Sloan's status is not definite, but even if he is able to play, Johnson apparently will have an edge. Johnson has had the advantage of working with Rebel receivers all week.

Lakers' Owner Will Rent Arena

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Lakers' owner Jack Kent Cooke says he is renting the Los Angeles Sports Arena for another two years.

"As far as I'm concerned, the contract is signed," the National Basketball Association team owner said Wednesday.

He scotched reports that he was considering building a new home for the Lakers or moving them outdoors, to nearby Dodger Stadium.

"It's news to me," Cooke said, laughing off a suggestion he had not planned to renew the present contract.

Cooke said he had promised members of the Coliseum Commission, a county agency which operates the Sports Arena, that he would sign the contract before it expires Jan. 15.

Hull Heading For New NHL Goal Record

By The Associated Press

Bobby Hull, Chicago's blond bombshell, appears headed for a one-season National Hockey League goal-scoring record and he could establish a point scoring mark while he's at it.

Hull, with his 30th and 31st goals of the season sparking Chicago's 4-2 victory over Montreal in the only NHL game Wednesday night, holds an 11-point lead over the Canadiens' Bobby Rousseau with 51 points.

His two targets are the 50-goal one-season record he shares with Montreal's Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion and the 96-point scoring championship mark set by Canadiens' Dick Moore in 1958-59.

Chicago has 38 games to play, and barring injury, Hull would seem to have a strong shot at both marks. If he gets them it could play a major role in Chicago's first regular season title.

Wednesday's victory put the Hawks three points ahead of the runner-up Canadiens although Montreal has played one less game.

'Block That Kick' Not Corny Yell To Cowboys

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Block that kick!" is more than a corny yell to the Dallas Cowboys, who meet the Baltimore Colts here Sunday in the National Football League's Playoff Bowl.

It's an exhortation that the Cowboys take seriously. As a result, they are the kick-block-ingest team in professional football.

"It's not the result of any special preparation or plan," says Tom Landry, the Dallas coach. "We just had some success early in the year and it became a game — a sort of challenge — to the boys.

They have blocked nine. That's almost a third of the total blocked by all the teams of the NFL — 29 — and three times as many as any other team.

Blocked field goals set up Dallas scores in four games and resulted directly in victory in three — the 39-31 win over San Francisco at Dallas, the 21-19 victory over the Eagles at Philadelphia and the 38-20 final game decision over the New York Giants that sent the Cowboys into the Playoff Bowl.

Key men in these defensive maneuvers have been Obert Logan, a 180-pound defensive back from Trinity, Tex.; Mike Gaechter, a 190-pounder from Oregon; defensive end Jethroe Pugh, 250-pound end and tackle, and Cornell Green, 215-pound defensive back from Utah State.

They are the Big Four. Logan and Gaechter each blocked two field goals during the recent campaign, Green and Pugh one each.

The group also figured in the blocking of five extra-point attempts and one punt, making 15 blocked kicks in all.

The Dallas coach said he expected an open offensive battle with Baltimore.

"The Colts are ar offensive-minded team," he said. "Unfortunately, they lost Johnny Unitas, but Tom Matte is now making them go again and we expect to see a lot of passes to Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr."

The Colts, beaten out in overtime in a playoff with Green Bay for the Western Conference title, are slight favorites over a Dallas team that won its first two games, lost five in a row and then rallied to win five of its last seven.

Troy Man, 26, Is Indicted On Numerous Counts

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Two counts each of kidnaping, shooting to kill, shooting to wound and assault with a deadly weapon, and one each of rape, abduction for immoral purposes, attempted robbery, assault to commit robbery, and car theft —that's the indictment against Delbert Ward Browning, 26, of Troy.

A Miami County grand jury returned Wednesday the 13-count true bill under which the Troy ex-convict will be prosecuted in the attack Dec. 18 on two Christiansburg, Champaign County, teen-agers.

Marcella Rutt, 18, who had been critically wounded, was released from the hospital Sunday, while Jerry Morehead, 19, is still hospitalized but has improved to good condition.

The couple were accosted when they stopped for pizza at a shopping center here, were forced to drive into the country and both were shot in the abdomen and dumped at separate rural spots.

Browning is in county jail, arrested several days after the crime on the strength of identification initially based on a composite drawing.

Ohio Man Celebrates His 105th Birthday

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—"Devonshire people just live longer," is what Theophilus May had to say on his 105th birthday.

The old native Englishman, who carried mail in Cleveland for 33 years, is a bit hard of hearing, but said casually Wednesday at his birthday party that he is looking forward to Jan. 5, 1967.

May, who is living with his grandson, Charles Mills, said he has outlived his 13 brothers and sisters—but all of them lived until their 70s and 80s.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

How Much Longer For 'O'Brien'?

Peter Falk's "Trials of O'Brien," a failing series, has made the grade in one respect. It is prime candidate for this seasons cause celebre. Reason, as usual: low ratings, high praise.

Richard Doan

Its the show for which those who tew about where TV is headed are currently toting the torch, saying, "It's really this season's best show. Isn't it a shame it failed!"

-:-

LAST YEAR they bemoaned in the same way "The Rogues," and a year before it was "The Richard Boone Show."

CBS, which didn't particularly help the "O'Brien" cause by shifting it recently from opposite "Get Smart" Saturday nights to oppose "Man From U.N.C.L.E." Friday nights, isn't yet conceding that the Falk vehicle is finished. But the verdict seemingly is being withheld out of kindness.

Twenty-two episodes have been authorized and the inside word is that it's to be 22 skidoo.

On a local late-night radio gab show recently the actor grumbled that TV production in New York "is on the verge of dying out" because "the studios here are lousy" and the pay for actors "disgraceful."

"O'Brien" is the last surviving New York-based TV dramatic series in prime time. A year ago there were five.

Over the weekend, with no hint that "O'Brien" is short-lived, CBS announced that the series will be graced in February by Britt Eklund, actress-wife of Peter Sellers, appearing in a two-part episode entitled "The Greatest Game."

The "delectable blonde Swede," as the network described her, will portray a Balkan girl involved in the theft of the Viktor Emblem, a "great egg" of precious stones, from a national shrine.

-:-

GARY MOORE may make it back into the weekly TV lists yet. With luck, he might bring it off next fall.

Royal Blakeman, business manager-agent for the former CBS variety show host, said last week that the prospects of a new show "look reasonably promising."

He said Moore had had "thousands of offers" to do various things, "but he wants exactly the right thing," and that's a series which Blakeman characterized as "comedy-variety rather than a musical variety show."

-:-

THE AGENT said that if the proposed show materializes it will "very definitely" originate from New York.

Somewhat surprisingly, it wouldn't necessarily be on CBS.

Blakeman was not prepared to discuss what network is in prospect, but it has been learned that CBS, while having first refusal, does not exercise a hold on its former star that would prevent him from doing a series elsewhere.

In the works, in fact, is an ABC-TV special booked for Feb. 4, in which Moore will preside over an experimental hour involving sampling of public opinion. He long has expressed a desire to get into news-type programming.

Clergyman, 78, Plans 700-Mile Ride On Horse

FRANKLIN, Ind. (AP)—A 78-year-old clergyman on a palomino mare, assuming all goes well, should look familiar to some Ohioans despite his 1820 garb as he crosses their state via U. S. 40.

Leaving from DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., Sunday, he's a former Columbus district superintendent of the Methodist Church and a native of Cadiz, Ohio.

He is the Rev. Sumner L. Martin, retired now as a minister but planning a 700-mile ride on Maudie the mare to Baltimore, Md., to help celebrate Methodism's 200th anniversary in America.

Dr. Martin, also a former Indianapolis district superintendend, figures to ride only in good weather and that the trip will take 45 days.

He'll be the oldest of 12 clergymen memorializing pioneer Methodist circuit riders and converging on Baltimore for the anniversary observance April 21-24. He will preach en route and distribute 1,000 copies of the Book of Romans.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP)—Patricia Lawford, sister of the late President John F. Kennedy, has separated from her husband, actor Peter Lawford.

Their lawyer, William P. Marin, said the couple had agreed to a legal separation. He said the splitup, long rumored and the first in the tightly knit Kennedy clan, was amicable.

Jose Gonzalez received a $108 guitar on the eve of the traditional Jan. 6 Latin-American gift day. Marshall Wise, director of the federally operated Cuban Refugee Center, presented the guitar to the 12-year-old boy. It was purchased with proceeds from a Cuban Christmas Benefit Committee.

Jose had written the President:

"I understand that last Christmas you put up a big Christmas tree and gave many presents to children and adults... If I can get a guitar like one in the picture I send, I can get work and earn money for my clothes, my school and my mother.

"I hope you are done with your operation and that you have a happy Christmas."

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Dr. William F. Reed, an American Foreign Service official now serving in Liberia, visited briefly in Baton Rouge Wednesday with a boyhood acquaintance — Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen.

None Injured In Fire

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP) — None of the dozens of firemen who rushed to the scene, nor any of some 65 residents of the Flat Rock Children's Home, were injured when fire destroyed a big barn on the home's grounds Wednesday night. Spontaneous combustion apparently caused the fire at the Evangelical United Brethren Church facility at Flat Rock in Seneca County just south of here.

Memorial Plaques Set

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

How Much Longer For 'O'Brien'?

Peter Falk's "Trials of O'Brien," a failing series, has made the grade in one respect: It is prime candidate for this seasons cause celebre. Reason, as usual: low ratings, high praise.

Richard Doan

Its the show for which those who tew about where TV is headed are currently toting the torch, saying, "It's really this season's best show. Isn't it a shame it failed!"

-:-

LAST YEAR they bemoaned in the same way "The Rogues," and a year before it was "The Richard Boone Show."

CBS, which didn't particularly help the "O'Brien" cause by shifting it recently from opposite "Get Smart" Saturday nights to oppose "Man From U.N.C.L.E." Friday nights, isn't yet conceding that the Falk vehicle is finished. But the verdict seemingly is being withheld out of kindness.

Twenty-two episodes have been authorized and the inside word is that it's to be 22 skidoo.

FALK, who started off last year extolling the joys of filming a TV drama in the stimulating environs of Manhattan, has become bitter.

On a local late-night radio gab show recently the actor grumbled that TV production in New York "is on the verge of dying out" because "the studios here are lousy" and the pay for actors "disgraceful."

"O'Brien" is the last surviving New York-based TV dramatic series in prime time. A year ago there were five.

Over the weekend, with no hint that "O'Brien" is short-lived, CBS announced that the series will be graced in February by Britt Eklund, actress-wife of Peter Sellers, appearing in a two-part episode entitled "The Greatest Game."

The "delectable blonde Swede," as the network described her, will portray a Balkan girl involved in the theft of the Viktor Emblem, a "great egg" of precious stones, from a national shrine.

O'Brien gets into the "topkapi"-like act when he is retained by the consul general of Macedonia to negotiate return of the emblem.

The two-parter might be "O'Brien's" parting blaze of glory. CBS is expected to start showing reruns of earlier episodes after mid-February.

-:-

GARY MOORE may make it back into the weekly TV lists yet. With luck, he might bring it off next fall.

Royal Blakeman, business manager-agent for the former CBS variety show host, said last week that the prospects of a new show "look reasonably promising."

He said Moore had had "thousands of offers" to do various things, "but he wants exactly the right thing," and that's a series which Blakeman characterized as "comedy-variety rather than a musical variety show."

-:-

THE AGENT said that if the proposed show materializes it will "very definitely" originate from New York.

Somewhat surprisingly, it wouldn't necessarily be on CBS.

Blakeman was not prepared to discuss what network is in prospect, but it has been learned that CBS, while having first refusal, does not exercise a hold on its former star that would prevent him from doing a series elsewhere.

In the works, in fact, is an ABC-TV special booked for Feb. 4, in which Moore will preside over an experimental hour involving sampling of public opinion. He long has expressed a desire to get into news-type programming.

Clergyman, 78, Plans 700-Mile Ride On Horse

FRANKLIN, Ind. (AP)—A 78-year-old clergyman on a palomino mare, assuming all goes well, should look familiar to some Ohioans despite his 1820 garb as he crosses their state via U. S. 40.

Leaving from DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., Sunday, he's a former Columbus district superintendent of the Methodist Church and a native of Cadiz, Ohio.

He is the Rev. Sumner L. Martin, retired now as a minister but planning a 700-mile ride on Maudie the mare to Baltimore, Md., to help celebrate Methodism's 200th anniversary in America.

Dr. Martin, also a former Indianapolis district superintendend, figures to ride only in good weather and that the trip will take 45 days.

He'll be the oldest of 12 clergymen memorializing pioneer Methodist circuit riders and converging on Baltimore for the anniversary observance April 21-24. He will preach en route and distribute 1,000 copies of the Book of Romans.

Cancer Unit Reminds Of U.S. Health Test

LISBON — The Columbiana County unit of the American Cancer Society reminds residents of the national health test to be televised at 10 p.m. Jan. 18.

Mrs. Donald Gallatin of East Palestine pointed out the program is the third in a series of audience participation programs patterned after the national drivers' and national citizenship tests. It may be viewed over the CBS network.

Scorched Earth

GIs To Burn Cong Houses, Crops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—To break the back of the Viet Cong, U.S. and Allied forces are adopting a program of destroying houses and crops in areas which feed and shield the Communist forces.

For years, Americans refused to participate in "scorched earth" efforts, leaving them to the Vietnamese. Now Americans are directly involved. They are trying to protect innocent people.

The broad-based program includes the establishment of free-bombing zones in Viet Cong regions, killing rice crops in enemy areas, and burning other crops and homes.

The rich, intensely cultivated flat lands south of the Vaico Oriental River west of Saigon are prime "scorched earth" targets. U. S. paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade began operating there last weekend.

They laid their base camp among the blackened frames of burned houses. Within two miles of the paratroopers' camp not a house was left standing. Constant pounding by artillery and planes had reduced every building to rubble.

The paratroopers' mission was to move out farther, round up all the people they could find, evacuate them north of the river to resettlement camps, and burn and destroy everything eatable and livable.

Patrols waded in neck-deep canals slicing through the canefields, crept stealthily down high dikes, and pushed through thick brush.

Every house they encountered they burned to the ground. Most were of thatch, but some were large with heavy wooden frames and neat gardens.

The American paratroopers are remaining in the area, enlarging the "scorched earth" zone. They know that the Viet Cong will rebuild the razed homes when they leave, make new earthenware pots and breed new chickens.

Capt. Henry Tucker, from Columbus, Miss., said: "Maybe if we can keep them busy rebuilding their houses and replanting the crops, then they'll have no time for shooting."

Satellite To Be Launched

New Era In Long-Range Weather Forecasting Due

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new era in long-range weather forecasting opens this month with the launching of the first of several satellites combining to form a full-time operational forecasting network.

Within two to three years, weathermen "will be able to advise people not to go to the beach two weeks from Sunday because it's going to rain that day," predicted an official working on the project with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

TOS 2 is due to ride aloft about one month later.

Although more than a half-million useful pictures were received from the first 10 Tiros weather satellites, their primary function was to test telectronic systems to be used in weather monitoring by satellites.

Heart of the long-range forecasting system will be packed inside another satellite, called Nimbus B, which will be launched in late 1967 or early 1968.

Sensors aboard Nimbus will record data such as the atmospheric pressure and moisture content of the air at various locations around the world. Remote unmanned stations on earth will record wind velocity on the earth's surface and relay this data to the satellite.

This information, coupled with photographs of cloud formations from two TOS satellites, "could enable weather predictions to be made two to four weeks in advance," said a spokesman for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

Plans call for two TOS satellites to be in orbit at all times, with another on standby ready for launch in case an orbiting satellite breaks down or wears out.

One of the TOS satellites will be used to help weathermen on a local level. The other will send data to Goddard or U.S. Weather Bureau headquarters for worldwide forecasts, the space agency said.

Sensors aboard Nimbus will also be useful in other sciences, such as geology or oceanography.

'Cat Burglar' Hunted By Police In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — As if police didn't have their hands full looking for the Commuter Bandit.

Latest victim was Miss Ann Kristy of the Shadyside section who told police Wednesday someone used a step ladder to slip into her apartment and take off with a stereo, a television set, a coat and some jewelry all valued at $553.

Only the day before, two Squirrel Hill homes were entered while the families were present and $11,714 in cash and jewelry were stolen.

Police said the thieves used ladders on both jobs.

The commuter bandit, incidentally, is a bank robber who has netted about $130,000 in 13 jobs over the past four years. Police think he's a suburbanite who comes to the city to stage a holdup when he needs money—hence the name "Commuter Bandit."

Football Seen Cause Of Boy's Electrocution

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A football went over a fence Wednesday, indirectly leading to the electrocution of George Couch, 12, who lived near the Ohio Edison Co. power station where the accident occurred.

George and other boys were playing with the ball, but after he climbed the Ohio Edison fence and retrieved it, they decided to play inside the electric plant grounds. Young Couch climbed a catwalk along the building, grabbed a wire and a fatal charge went through him.

Court Income Falls By $506

Municipal Court income hit $3,569 in December, dropping $506 from the $4,075 in November, it was shown today in the monthly report of Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon.

The city's share of December receipts was $3,278, off $395 from the $3,673 paid the city treasury in November.

The city's share was comprised of $163 in costs from civil cases; $3,006 in fines, costs and and $108 in penalties resulting from State Highway Patrol cases.

In addition, the court disbursed $108 to the state treasury, $99 to the county treasury and $84 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled by the court in December was $4,685, off $4,066 from the $8,751 in November. The amounts handled last month included $817 in the civil branch and $3,868 in the criminal branch.

Armco's Going Along With U.S. Steel Increase

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Armco Steel Corp., one of the nation's top ten producers, is going along with the U. S. Steel Corp. on the price increase on structural steel.

Armco announced a $2.75 per ton rise for carbon steel structural shapes Wednesday shortly after U. S. Steel made a similar announcement. Other steel companies said they would raise prices by the same amount, which the White House said was acceptable.

The Middletown-based company makes structural shapes at its plants in Houston and Kansas City.

At the same time, Armco announced it was recalled 50 laid-off employes because of additional orders and the need to build up stocks of coils prior to a maintenance shutdown of the hot strip mill. A spokesman said only 160 employes remain laid off.

Record In Road Pacts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio put a record $454.4 million in highway construction under contract during 1965, reports Highway Director P. E. Masheter. He said the old record was $396 million worth in 1962.

Scorched Earth

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

GIs To Burn Cong Houses, Crops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—To break the back of the Viet Cong, U.S. and Allied forces are adopting a program of destroying houses and crops in areas which feed and shield the Communist forces.

For years, Americans refused to participate in "scorched earth" efforts, leaving them to the Vietnamese. Now Americans are directly involved. They are trying to protect innocent people.

The broad-based program includes the establishment of free-bombing zones in Viet Cong regions, killing rice crops in enemy areas, and burning other crops and homes.

The rich, intensely cultivated flat lands south of the Vaico Oriental River west of Saigon are prime "scorched earth" targets. U. S. paratroopers from the 173rd Airborne Brigade began operating there last weekend.

They laid their base camp among the blackened frames of burned houses. Within two miles of the paratroopers' camp not a house was left standing. Constant pounding by artillery and planes had reduced every building to rubble.

The paratroopers' mission was to move out farther, round up all the people they could find, evacuate them north of the river to resettlement camps, and burn and destroy everything eatable and livable.

Patrols waded in neck-deep canals slicing through the canefields, crept stealthily down high dikes, and pushed through thick brush.

Every house they encountered they burned to the ground. Most were of thatch, but some were large with heavy wooden frames and neat gardens.

Every cooking utensil was smashed, every banana tree severed, every mattress slashed.

The American paratroopers are remaining in the area, enlarging the "scorched earth" zone. They know that the Viet Cong will rebuild the razed homes when they leave, make new earthenware pots and breed new chickens.

Capt. Henry Tucker, from Columbus, Miss., said: "Maybe if we can keep them busy rebuilding their houses and replanting the crops, then they'll have no time for shooting."

Satellite To Be Launched

New Era In Long-Range Weather Forecasting Due

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A new era in long-range weather forecasting opens this month with the launching of the first of several satellites combining to form a full-time operational forecasting network.

Within two to three years, weathermen "will be able to advise people not to go to the beach two weeks from Sunday because it's going to rain that day," predicted an official working on the project with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A picture - taking satellite named TOS 1, which stands for Tiros operational satellite, is scheduled for launching late this month, probably Jan. 25 or 26, as the first fully operational weather satellite.

TOS 2 is due to ride aloft about one month later.

Although more than a half-million useful pictures were received from the first 10 Tiros weather satellites, their primary function was to test telecronic systems to be used in weather monitoring by satellites.

Heart of the long-range forecasting system will be packed inside another satellite, called Nimbus B, which will be launched in late 1967 or early 1968.

Sensors aboard Nimbus will record data such as the atmospheric pressure and moisture content of the air at various locations around the world. Remote unmanned stations on earth will record wind velocity on the earth's surface and relay this data to the satellite.

This information, coupled with photographs of cloud formations from two TOS satellites, "could enable weather predictions to be made two to four weeks in advance," said a spokesman for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center.

Plans call for two TOS satellites to be in orbit at all times, with another on standby ready for launch in case an orbiting satellite breaks down or wears out.

One of the TOS satellites will be used to help weathermen on a local level. The other will send data to Goddard or U.S. Weather Bureau headquarters for worldwide forecasts, the space agency said.

Sensors aboard Nimbus will also be useful in other sciences, such as geology or oceanography.

'Cat Burglar' Hunted By Police In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — As if police didn't have their hands full looking for the Commuter Bandit.

Now comes a cat burglar.

Latest victim was Miss Ann Kristy of the Shadyside section who told police Wednesday someone used a step ladder to slip into her apartment and take off with a stereo, a television set, a coat and some jewelry all valued at $553.

Only the day before, two Squirrel Hill homes were entered while the families were present and $11,714 in cash and jewelry were stolen.

Police said the thieves used ladders on both jobs.

The commuter bandit, incidentally, is a bank robber who has netted about $130,000 in 13 jobs over the past four years. Police think he's a suburbanite who comes to the city to stage a holdup when he needs money—hence the name "Commuter Bandit."

Football Seen Cause Of Boy's Electrocution

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A football went over a fence Wednesday, indirectly leading to the electrocution of George Couch, 12, who lived near the Ohio Edison Co. power station where the accident occurred.

George and other boys were playing with the ball, but after he climbed the Ohio Edison fence and retrieved it, they decided to play inside the electric plant grounds. Young Couch climbed a catwalk along the building, grabbed a wire and a fatal charge went through him.

Court Income Falls By $506

Municipal Court income hit $3,569 in December, dropping $506 from the $4,075 in November, it was shown today in the monthly report of Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon.

The city's share of December receipts was $3,278, off $395 from the $3,673 paid the city treasury in November.

The city's share was comprised of $163 in costs from civil cases; $3,006 in fines, costs and and $108 in penalties resulting from State Highway Patrol cases.

In addition, the court disbursed $108 to the state treasury, $99 to the county treasury and $84 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled by the court in December was $4,685, off $4,066 from the $8,751 in November. The amounts handled last month included $817 in the civil branch and $3,868 in the criminal branch.

Armco's Going Along With U.S. Steel Increase

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Armco Steel Corp., one of the nation's top ten producers, is going along with the U. S. Steel Corp. on the price increase on structural steel.

Armco announced a $2.75 per ton rise for carbon steel structural shapes Wednesday shortly after U. S. Steel made a similar announcement. Other steel companies said they would raise prices by the same amount, which the White House said was acceptable.

The Middletown-based company makes structural shapes at its plants in Houston and Kansas City.

At the same time, Armco announced it was recalled 50 laid-off employes because of additional orders and the need to build up stocks of coils prior to a maintenance shutdown of the hot strip mill. A spokesman said only 160 employes remain laid off.

Record In Road Pacts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio put a record $454.4 million in highway construction under contract during 1965, reports Highway Director P. E. Masheter. He said the old record was $396 million worth in 1962.

The Community Motors Sales, due to the public's acceptance of a fine car has expanded their facilities by taking over the Bob Curran Used Car Sales at 948 Penn. Ave., next to Garfield School. This enables us to show our usual fine selection of used cars in one location. By doing this our downtown location will now be able to give more personalized shop service with daytime and night time mechanics. Here is a list of some of our dependable used cars, mostly one owner cars, as we do not buy at auctions or price our cars, plus your car. 1962 CHEVY COUPE; 1963 VOLKSWAGEN station wagon; 1964 TRIUMPH; 1961 CHRYSLER; 1961 CHEVY convertible; 1965 CHEVY coupe; 1964 DODGE 2 door; 1964 DODGE 2 door hardtop; 1964 OLDSMOBILE 4 door, air conditioned; 1958 MERCURY 4 door. It will pay you to visit our used car lot. See Harry Prescot, Ernest Shenton, or John Laughlin. Also see them for your new Dodge. We give real good deals. In 1912, New Mexico, the 47th state, was admitted into the Union.

In 1919, former President Theodore Roosevelt died.

Junior Editors Quiz on POLITICAL SYMBOLS

QUESTION: Why are the donkey and the elephant symbols of political parties?

ANSWER: Cartooning presents ideas in picture form so simply and effectively that few words of explanation are needed. Picture symbols for things—such as Uncle Sam for America—help the cartoonist greatly in putting his points across. The Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey were both originated as picture symbols by the famous cartoonist Thomas Nast, who created them to use in his drawings appearing in Harper's Weekly in the 1870's.

The Democratic party took its name in 1828 when Andrew Jackson was elected as president. Jackson had had the support of small farmers and workers. When Nast, in 1870, wanted a picture symbol to stand for the Democratic party, he chose a donkey, perhaps because this was an animal so much in use by small farmers. Later, he had occasion to seek a symbol for the Republican party, which though only started in 1854, had grown to great size, possibly a reason for the choice of the elephant. Our main picture is taken from a Nast cartoon in which the elephant appears for the first time. Nast's symbol of the tiger for New York's Tammany Hall, led by "Boss" Tweed, also became very famous and is said to have indirectly led to Tweed's downfall.

Junior Editors Quiz on POLITICAL SYMBOLS

QUESTION: Why are the donkey and the elephant symbols of political parties?

ANSWER: Cartooning presents ideas in picture form so simply and effectively that few words of explanation are needed. Picture symbols for things—such as Uncle Sam for America—help the cartoonist greatly in putting his points across. The Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey were both originated as picture symbols by the famous cartoonist Thomas Nast, who created them to use in his drawings appearing in Harper's Weekly in the 1870's.

The Democratic party took its name in 1828 when Andrew Jackson was elected as president. Jackson had had the support of small farmers and workers. When Nast, in 1870, wanted a picture symbol to stand for the Democratic party, he chose a donkey, perhaps because this was an animal so much in use by small farmers. Later, he had occasion to seek a symbol for the Republican party, which though only started in 1854, had grown to great size, possibly a reason for the choice of the elephant. Our main picture is taken from a Nast cartoon in which the elephant appears for the first time. Nast's symbol of the tiger for New York's Tammany Hall, led by "Boss" Tweed, also became very famous and is said to have indirectly led to Tweed's downfall.

Arizona To Get Flag Carried By Astronaut

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona expects to get back Monday the state flag which astronaut Frank Borman carried on his Gemini 7 flight.

Gov. Sam Goddard gave the flag to Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and a spokesman for the Tucson Chamber of Commerce says the astronaut plans to return it at a public reception honoring him.

A spectacular display of lights — in the shape of a Titan rocket 10 stories high — will greet Borman when he returns to the city where he spent his boyhood.

The Office of Civil Defense was created in August 1961.

Father Who Lost Job Cited For Bank Theft

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A father of three who lost his job as a truck mechanic last week is charged with being the bearded man who robbed a bank at nearby Curtice of $2,778 Tuesday. In Lucas County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond is William Heskle Buck, 28, of Toledo.

FBI agents said clues, not any tip, led to Buck's arrest near his home Wednesday. Buck once served three years' probation for breaking and entering, the FBI said. Tuesday's holdup was at a branch of the National Bank of Oak Harbor.
